MISS HANSEN COMES TO CITY TO FIGHT DOPE

JUANITA HANSEN.

Former screen beauty who is in Boston to give lectures on the triumphant fight she has made to overcome the curse of drugs. She is a new Juanita, and her story holds a lesson for all.

Juanita's in town.

A new Juanita Hansen. She still has the beauty of face and form that shot her from the humble status of a cinema bathing girl to stardom. She still has the youth which is so capitalized by the screen.

But she's new—made over—reborn practically, in a crucible of suffering, of drug dreams, of delusions born of hop.

All Boston has read the experiences of this girl, as printed in the Boston American.

She has described the terrible day when she took her first taste of drugs, and of the road she trod as the narcotic she used, at first her willing and devoted slave, became her master and enslaved her almost to the grave.

HAS MESSAGE FOR ALL.

Monday Miss Hansen will appear at the Bowdoin Square Theatre. She will give her lecture every performance for a week. Her talk supplements the story that appears daily in this newspaper.

"I want everybody in Boston to read my story in the American, and to hear my lecture," Miss Hansen said. "It has become the mission of my life. I don't care whether you are a victim of drugs or not. I have gone through hell, and I want to do my part to prevent others from taking the same trip."

Judge Thayer Decides Convicted Slayer Must Have Medical Treatment

After stating it as his opinion that Nicola Sacco, convicted of murder, is in need of medical treatment, Judge Webster Thayer today indicated at the hearing in Dedham he would send Sacco to the Bridgewater State Farm.

Judge Thayer indicated at the same time, however, that he would allow Sacco to remain at the Boston Psychopathic pending an appeal to the Supreme Court by Sacco's counsel. Ordinarily, he said, a defendant such as Sacco should be committed to the State Farm at once.

CAPTAIN MAURICE FRIEND

Captain Maurice Friend is free on $500 bail today pending hearing April 25 on charges of defrauding the Copley-Plaza Hotel of a bill for $118.

The self styled English army officer, whose striking appearance led Boston society to credit his claims of relation to the British nobility and membership in London clubs, is also known at the British Embassy at Washington. Word came to Boston that the Embassy has no intention of taking steps in the local case and no record of any connection of Captain Friend with the British service.

COAKLEY WINS JURY TRIAL FIGHT

Has Berman's $50,000 Suit Transferred From Supreme to Superior Court

Daniel H. Coakley today won the first step in his fight for a trial by jury in the Meyer Berman $50,000 conspiracy suit.

Judge Crosby in Superior Court ruled that the case against Coakley is to be transferred from the Supreme Court to the Superior Court. This gives Coakley a chance to have the case tried by jury.

That point is still to be ruled upon, but the granting of the motion for a transfer indicated that a trial by jury may be allowed.

Berman, former proprietor of the Hotel Higgins on Howard street, filed suit against Coakley in March, 1922, asking $50,000, which he charged Coakley had extorted from him by conspiracy.

Property of Attorney Coakley in Suffolk and Plymouth counties was

FATAL LYNN FIRE FOLLOWED WILD PARTY IN ONE OF TENEMENTS

tions are still being pressed to determine the cause and whether or not the holocaust, which killed five persons and injured a score, was in any way connected with a party reported as having taken place on the fourth floor.

Reports are current that Miss Antoinette Abeaudette, one of the dead, may have suffered a terrific beating because of cuts and abrasions on her face and that the assailant may have caused the blaze by throwing a cigarette or cigar down a paper shute in his flight.

The fire started in rubbish at the bottom of the shute according to the report sent to State Fire Marshal George C. Neal by the chief of the Lynn Fire Department.

LAW REGARDED.

The absence of fire escapes, which first attracted the attention of firemen and police, is not in violation of the statutes governing apartment houses of the style of construction of Essex Castle, according to statements today by State Fire Marshal Neal and John H. Plunkett, chief of inspectors.

The Essex county district attorney's office, however, planned today to conduct a probe especially in regard to this and to find if there were any infraction of the laws. Assistant District Attorney Edward F. Flynn announced this in a statement.

While the investigators for the government and insurance companies were poking about the ruins today and making statements as to the ways and wherefores of the fire, relatives and intimate friends of Miss Abeaudette, until her death generally known as Mrs. Richard Hanlon, were demanding a thorough investigation to determine the cause of the cuts and abrasions on her face.

FOUND BRUISES.

Medical Examiner Nathaniel P. Breed admitted today the finding of these abrasions and wounds but declared that death had been due to burns. Dr. Breed's statement:

"Friends of the dead woman, who heard that her face was cut asked me my opinion. I told them that, after looking over the body at the undertaking rooms, I did find abrasions on both sides of the face and forehead and found that her face had been split in two or three places.

"I attribute this to the intense heat of the fire or else falling debris. It is possible she may have fainted and fallen against something. I found on examination that she suffered from extensive burns on a her body. Her hair was partly burned away. I am confident death was due to burns.

"The victim was dressed in a long black coat under which she wore a purple night gown and brown moccasins. She was not fully dressed."

REVEALS ROMANCE.

When Richard Hanlon reached Lynn last night from Philadelphia, where he had been reached by his brother Edward, he was greeted with stories of how his wife had been severely beaten and perhaps murdered and how this presaged the fire disaster.

It then became known for the first time since the bodies were recovered that the woman was not Mrs. Hanlon. His brother Edward said today:

"Tony was not Dick's wife.

"She was merely a very close friend. Dick could not marry her for he has a wife living. He was separated from his wife ten or twelve years ago."

One theory is that there had been a hectic party which had led to a quarrel in which Miss Abeaudette had been severely beaten and her assailant, fearing her dead, had fled hurriedly and as he ran had tossed a cigar or cigarette butt into a paper chute leading to the basement where there was a pile of rubbish.

The fire has been traced directly to this source.

Tenants of the house confirm the rumor that there had been a gay party on the fourth floor where Miss Abeaudette had an apartment. They say these gatherings were a frequent occurrence.

Members of the public officials who viewed her body at the morgue declared he was convinced the wounds would have been caused by a bottle.

Said an official: "There was a wild party in that apartment the night of the fire. I viewed Mrs. Hanlon's body at the morgue, and I am convinced wounds such as hers could have been inflicted with a bottle."

VOTED LYNN BEAUTY.

Miss Abeaudette, familiarly known as "Tonny," was widely and favorably known in Lynn.

Two years ago she was voted the most beautiful woman in the city at an Elks' Club festival.

She had been employed as a store clerk by various Lynn firms until about six months ago.

State authorities will conduct a formal hearing next Tuesday morning to determine responsibility for the Essex Castle fire.

COAKLEY WINS TRIAL FIGHT

Daniel H. Coakley

attached by Berman to the sum of $100,000.

Berman alleged that $85,000 was extorted from him on October 11, 1916, when he was proprietor of the hotel. He alleged that on that date Coakley, who was acting as his counsel, informed him that a statutory offence had been committed in the hotel and that, in consequence, he was facing indictment.

The complaint in the case, Berman stated, was made, according to Coakley, by former Middlesex County District Attorney William J. Corcoran, who was acting as counsel for the husband of the woman in the case. Coakley advised him to settle the case for $35,000 and avoid the indictments, Berman charged. He says he did this and turned the money over to the attorney.

ALLEGES EXTORTION.

In July, 1917, Berman says, he was informed by Coakley that he faced a second indictment on a similar alleged offence. This time he refused to pay, saying he didn't have the money. Coakley, he says, took him to the Beacon Trust Company and fixed it so that he could borrow $15,000, which sum, Berman says, he turned over to Coakley.

In his bill Berman alleged he was satisfied the money had been extorted from him on trumped up charges.

Coakley alleged that the judges of the Supreme Court were prejudiced against him by virtue of his connection with the Joseph C. Pelletier case, and this was the basis of the motion for a transfer to the Superior Court.

SACCO GOING TO STATE FARM

sel for Sacco that he be kept in the Boston Psycopathic, Judge Thayer pointed out that many of the inmates of the State Farm have been merely indicted.

"It was apparently the intention of the legislator who framed the bill that the State Farm should be for the purpose of giving the benefit to the defendant," Judge Thayer continued.

"I would, however," he added, speaking to Attorney William G. Thompson, "be delighted to have Sacco stay where he is, so that you could go before Chief Justice Rugg for a Supreme Court decision."

Of Sacco's mental condition, Judge Thayer said:

"So far I am forced to find Sacco's condition such that he has to have medical treatment. I don't think it is best to call him insane as we understand the word in a legal sense. His condition may be brief, long or permanent. I would rather give him the benefit of the doubt, and say that he be confined for medical treatment.

"The court was forced to meet an extraordinary situation, caused by two reports. The first declared Sacco sane, and the other, made ten days later, declared him to be insane. To be charitable, there was not as thorough an examination as should have been made for the first report."

"Dr. James V. May's testimony was frank, clear, and bore all the earmarks of the truth. He said that Sacco was suffering from some mental disorder—whether prison psychosis or something else need not concern us—that demands medical treatments.

"It makes no odds whether a man is guilty or innocent, if he is found guilty, as Sacco was, the burden under which he labors is a tremendous one, and in some cases it wouldn't be surprising if it completely wrecked his mind."

District-Attorney Harold P. Williams, in his final argument, asked that Sacco be confined at the State Farm.

"It would be unfortunate, because of the publicity attached to his case to allow him to be treated any differently than any other defendant," he said.

worth of heroin and a hypodermic needle to a woman drug addict.

KILLS BROTHER IN NORTH END

renewed when they arrived on the pier to buy their day's supply of fish for their push carts from the Italian fishing fleet.

Philip was first to draw. He made two lunges at Girolamo and missed. Then he suddenly threw his knife down on the pier, saying:

"I must not argue with my brother. I must not do that."

Girolamo the boy said, snatched up the knife and buried it twice in his brother's stomach. Philip fell dying and expired as Girolamo sped from the pier and into Atlantic avenue.

Philip Rugnatta was thirty-five years old and lived at No. 190 North street.

Girolamo is married and lives at No. 138 Fleet street.

Philip was called the "Singing Fish Pedlar" because he was content merely to cry "Fish—Fish!" through his selling district. He had a melodious voice, his Italian birthright.

ACCUSED EACH OTHER.

Both brothers sold through Orient Heights district of East Boston, and that made trouble. Each accused the other of trying to steal his trade. Hot Sicilian blood needed only this rivalry in trade to embroil the brothers in bitter argument.

After Girolamo fled from the pier telephone calls were sent to Hanover street police station and to the Relief Hospital.

Dr. Michael McCarty, who arrived on an ambulance, found Philip dead.

The singing brother had been stabbed deeply in the stomach. The police heard later that Girolamo had made two sweeping upward lunges at his brother's body, sinking the seven and a half-inch knife blade to the handle at each blow.

SON HELD AS WITNESS.

Joseph, the eleven-year-old son of the victim, ran home but was later taken to Hanover Street Police Station and held as a material witness.

Anthony Farien of No. 21 Fulton place, who had intervened once between the brothers when the argument first started and who also saw the fatal end of the affray, was also held as a material witness.

The holding of Farien led indirectly to the capture of Girolamo. Police learned Girolamo was thought to have escaped on an Italian fishing boat bound for Gloucester. Word was sent there to keep lookout for him.

Three hours after the killing, Lieutenant Hurley and Sergeant Hoy, in North street spied Girolamo.

SAYS BROTHER DID IT.

They remembered him as one whom they had seen as a companion of Farien, who was being held as a witness. On the chance this might be Girolamo the officer took him as a suspicious person and he admitted he was the man sought.

At the police station Girolamo declared:

"My brother did it himself. He did it himself."

The officers looked at him, as though incredulous.

"Well," asserted Girolamo, according to the police, "He made two tries with his knife to get me first before I did anything."

SUGAR CLIMBED to its highest yesterday for the present grafting boom. Cuban raw sugar doubled the price of a few weeks ago. Gamblers were having a pleasant time, which included buying and selling a million five hundred thousand tons and delivering only nine hundred tons.

THEN CAME A SURPRISE. Attorney-General Daugherty, who means business, applied for an injunction to forbid "speculating in futures"—gambling to make the price of sugar go up. It is time for such an injunction here. French law punishes with imprisonment at hard labor anybody caught gambling to put up the price of food.

DR. CUMMINGS, head surgeon of the United States health service, says "marathon dancing" is old. A dancing craze swept Europe five hundred years ago toward the end of the fourteenth century. In London crowds began dancing, whirling around four and five days at a time without stopping. Then they fell from exhaustion; many died.

Old pictures of "The Dance of Death," that you may see here and there in Europe on cemetery walls, were painted after great plagues, when human beings sought mental relief in dancing.

SOME OF OUR ANIMAL brothers have the same craze. The dancing or whirling mouse, which spins around with incredible speed until it drops, presents a diseased condition of the brain. The Japanese breeders select such weak-minded mice—they have one side of the brain under-developed—and succeed in breeding a strain of mice all crazy dancers.

THE LATEST DANCE news, in case you want it, is that Arthur Howard Klein, of Cleveland, danced eighty-eight hours without stopping, and Mildred Duval, still dancing, has eclipsed the ladies' record of seventy-seven hours and forty-five minutes, belonging to Miss Rose Smith. But don't be a dancing mouse.

GERMAN RIOTERS QUELLED

Six Dead, Sixty Wounded, Ere Mulheim Police Disperse Mob; Many Are Arrested

Freiburg, Germany, April 20. (By the Associated Press). — French troops from Offenburg today occupied the Baden towns of Ortenburg and Gengenbach, on the Black Forest Railroad.

Mulheim, April 20. (By the Associated Press.)—After being terrorized for three days by Communist mobs, Mulheim today was again under control of the constituted German authorities.

The 300 police and city officials, who had been besieged in the Rathaus issued from this great fortress like building this morning, cut through the lines of the besiegers, caught them in the rear, arrested many, and took control of the city.

Thirty leaders of the besiegers were arrested. One named Kurten, is said to have been the leader of the Kiel revolution in 1918. He resisted arrest and was wounded, probably fatally.

The casualty list for the period of disorders, so far as made up, showed six dead and sixty to seventy wounded, some of whom may die.

The French troops remained throughout the trouble in or near the Security police barracks which they were occupying. They took no part in the affair, which they regarded as purely local.

The burgomaster sent out his little force, a mixture of Security police and clerks, early this morning. They broke through the barricades, rushed the besiegers and quickly routed them, gathering in only the leaders. The fight was short and sharp, and the success was followed up quickly by the city forces, who spread out and regained control of the town.

The victorious defenders temporarily detained numbers of the youthful adventurers, whom they spanked with extreme vigor and then ordered them to go home to bed.

On exploring the city streets after the dispersal of the besiegers the authorities found many of the stores looted, chiefly for firearms and clothing.

Aged Sister of Field Marshal French Has Bed Carried to Front of Prison

Dublin, April 20 (By Associated Press)—Con Meany, one of the most prominent remaining leaders of the Republicans, has been arrested by a party of National Army troops at Guraneduff, near Millstreet, east of Killarney, it was announced today. This is considered one of the most important captures made in Cork County. Meany participated in many of the ambushes against the British forces.

Dublin, April 20.—Irish Republican women prisoners today invoked the hunger strike against the Free State. Mrs. Despard, aged sister of Field Marshal Lord French, had a bed carried to the outside of Kilmainham jail, announcing that she would remain there upon hunger strike until three other women inside the prison were liberated.

The women prisoners are on hunger strike also.

Troops Clear Kerry Cave of Irish Republicans

By DENIS O'CONNELL,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

Dublin, April 20.—The siege of the Kerry Cave has ended. Three of the irregular occupants of the hidden cave, which has been worrying the Free State forces for several days, were drowned when they were caught in the ebbing tide while trying to escape in the darkness.

Commander Lyons of the seven irregulars who used the cave for a fort, was killed by the troops while trying to escape. Three survivors, including an Englishman named Walter Stephens, of London, were captured and taken to Tralee.

When the cave was first discovered to be a stronghold of the irregulars it was believed that De Valera was among its occupants.

Free State to Drive on Until Enemy Is Crushed

By Associated Press.

Dublin, April 20.—It is generally recognized that the armed opposition to the Free State is almost at an end, but the prospects of permanent peace, many influential persons believe, depend on the manner in which the resistance is terminated.

To allow it to fizzle out, becoming daily less effective as leader after leader of the Republicans is captured, might, it is feared, involve months of costly, spasmodic disturbances and promote in the defeated an enduring bitterness that might find an outlet in assassinations.

Such a procedure would also involve the detention of more than 10,000 prisoners and the consequent disaffection of their friends and relatives throughout Ireland. Moreover, until the last vestiges of the opposition were stamped out it would be necessary to maintain the Free State army at a strength approaching 50,000 men, with an annual cost of over $50,000,000.

It is universally admitted that the government's terms of the surrender of all arms cannot be modified.

SCOTCH DISTILLERS DEMAND TAX CUT

London, April 20.—Saloons are plastered with announcement of the reduction of a penny a pint in the price of beer owing to the cut in taxation.

The Scottish distillers in a petition to the chancellor of the exchequer declare that while beer may be regarded as the English workingmen's beverage, whiskey is equally the beverage of workingmen in Scotland and Ireland and should have been granted an equal measure of relief from the "monstrous duty of 3 shillings and 5 peace a bottle, which is admittedly a wartime measure."

Miss Coakley was stricken one evening soon after a performance. She will be unable to play for several weeks.

Miss Hansen was asked whether she personally wrote the articles that have been appearing in the Boston American, or whether she had any help. She said that her story was not an effort to create literature.

WEARY OF BROADWAY.

"It's my message, not the way I wrote it, that counts," she said. "That's why I can't trust my work to any writer or annauensis. I have written every word of it myself.

"My motive? I'll tell you. May I borrow a typewriter?"

A typewriter was placed at her disposal. Miss Hansen sat down and wrote a little poem.

"Here's why," she said.

This is the poem she wrote:

WHY I TOLD MY STORY

"Tired of Broadway, that's all I can say;
Tired of things along the Gay White Way.
Tho' the lights dazzle like jewels of a city crowned,
I search for something that cannot be found.

'Dear Old Broadway'—you're called that by name,
Success you offer, but what a price for your fame!
I have laughed, I have cried, I have sung your song;
But your dice are all loaded—I know you're all wrong!

Good-by, 'Old Broadway,' you won't miss me, I know,
Because you're too busy to care if I go;
But your lights have grown dim—soon the music will cease!
At last I'll go home—find mother and peace!

JAIL PRICE FIXER OF POTTERY

President of Big Concern in New Jersey Given Ten Months and $5,000 Fine

New York, April 20.—Archibald M. Maddock, president of Thomas Maddock's Sons Company, of Trenton, N. J., one of twenty individuals convicted with twenty-three pottery manufacturing corporations for conspiracy in restraint of trade, was sentenced by Federal Judge Van Fleet today to serve ten months in the Essex County (N. J.) penitentiary and pay a fine of $5,000.

Seven other defendants, described by Judge Van Fleet as members of the executive committee of the Sanitary Potteries Association and active participants in its price-fixing operations, were given sentences of six months imprisonment in the Essex County Penitentiary and fines of $5,000.

The seven executive committeemen were: Elsey S. Aitkin, general manager of the Trenton Potteries Company; Raymond E. Crane, vice-president of the Eller Company of Cameron, W. Va.; Philip J. Faherty, treasurer of Lambertville, N. J., Pottery Company; George C. Kalbfleisch, factory manager of the Standard Sanitary Mfg Co., Kokomo, Ind.; William B. Maddock, secretary of John Maddock & Sons Company, Trenton, N. J.; Arthur Plantier, Sr., president and general manager of the Wheeling Sanitary Manufacturing Company, Wheeling, W. Va.

MRS. PHILLIPS TO GET IN SAFE ZONE

San Salvador, April 20.—Lynn W. Franklin, the United States Consul, said today he has been reliably informed by the Salvador police that Mrs. Clara Phillips, the Los Angeles "hammer murderess," was not in Salvador.

Mrs. Phillips made her way through Mexico and Guatemala.

It was believed she plans to reach Honduras, to avert extradition to the United States. Honduras has no extradition treaty with Washington.

MEXICO ENJOINS NELSON OIL COMPANY

Mexico City, April 20.—The Supreme Court has granted the petition of the International Petroleum Company for an injunction restraining the Department of Industry and Commerce from permitting the Nelson De Alba Company to sink ten wells and exploit ten hectares of land in the Tuxpan district, state of Vera Cruz. The land involved is considered to be among the richest petroleum properties in the entire zone.

$38,000,000 BRIDE IS SCARED BY CROWD

They have taken this modest home in the town where both attended school, in preference to a mansion. Top, at left, Mrs. Norris, at right, Lester Norris, newspaper cartoonist.

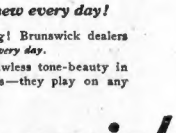

Chicago, April 20.—Private detectives, policemen and porters guarded the private car of Lester Norris and his $38,000,000 bride, formerly Miss Delora Angell and heiress to the fortune of the late John W. Gates, when they arrived here from Pasadena, Cal., following their honeymoon.

Perking out of the window at the inquisitive crowd which had gathered to get a view of them, the millionairess, who had become the bride of her childhood sweetheart, a struggling young artist, burst into tears.

The couple left for Lake Forest, where they will spend the Summer.

EXECUTION OF PRIESTS JUST, SAY PASTORS

New York, April 20.—The outcry of protest against the recent execution by the Russian Soviet government of Vicar-General Butchkavitch was characterized as a "colossal hypocrisy, inspired by political hatred," by four prominent New York clergymen whose statements in defence in the Soviet action were made public today by the National Labor Alliance for Trade Relations With and Recognition of Russia.

The clergymen are: Rev. John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the Community Church; The Rev. John Howard Melish, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn; the Rev. Norman Thomas, Presbyterian, connected with the League for Industrial Democracy, and the Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the fashionable Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension.

Dr. Grant.

"The vicar-general was executed, not because he was a priest, but because he was a traitor," Mr. Holmes said, to which Mr. Melish added: "No church has a right to defend traitors."

PRIESTS HAD FAIR TRIAL.

"I have no sympathy with the execution of any man by any government," Mr. Melish continued. "But I recognize that every government has the right to protect itself against its enemies. If Moscow reports of these priests' activities are true, if the accused had a fair trial, they were condemned, not because they were priests, but because they were traitors.

RUSSIA WITHIN RIGHTS.

"It's no crime against religion and humanity to punish priests who seek to betray Russia to Poland or to Rome."

After declaring that he, too, opposed capital punishment, Mr. Holmes added that he "had not the slightest sympathy with the howl of hypocritical indignation which is now being lifted in this country over the execution."

"The Moscow government," he added, "has done only what all the governments have done or would have done in similar cases; the execution is exactly parallel to that of Roger Casement by England and of Childers by the Irish Free State. What we have done in their affair, so far as America is concerned, is only one more attempt to ruin Russia."

THE "ETA" OF JAPAN demand recognition as human beings. Three million Japanese called "Eta" are treated as pariahs are treated in India.

How the unfortunates came to be looked upon by their Japanese brothers as vile inferiors nobody knows. Perhaps they were descended from or confounded with the hairy Ainus, ancient inhabitants of the Japanese islands, much despised by their conquerors.

At all events, their determination to prove themselves "as good as anybody else" is bothering the Japanese government.

BUBBLES IN MINERAL water are made by carbonic acid gas. That same gas is created by natural processes in your own system. Scientists at the National Jewish Hospital for Consumption have discovered that carbonic acid gas is deadly poison to the germ of tuberculosis.

The one effort of scientists is to find something that will kill germs without killing the patient. The idea is like killing a fly with a slap of the hand, as men kill it, not with a blow from a rock, the method used by the bear in the fable, killing the man as well as the fly.

SOMEBODY IN the Missouri Legislature introduced a bill to substitute the Ten Commandments and the League of Nations for the Constitution of the United States and for all other laws. That's about as intelligent as some other suggestions in favor of the League of Nations.

The Speaker of the Missouri Lower House declined even to refer the suggestion to a committee, and that's what the voters ought to do with the League of Nations suggestion.

ANOTHER STILL-BORN child has been brought back to life by the injection of adrenalin into the heart. This time at the hospital of Spring Lake, N. J. Twice after the injection the baby died. The third time it remained alive, and it is still living as this is written. All methods of resuscitation failed. Before, we could not answer the question, "What is life?" and now we can't answer "What is death?"

MADONNA-FACED WIFE WANTED BY JUDGE

New York, April 20.—"I will grant an interlocutory decree after I have seen the woman. I want to see her before I sign this decree so that she will not say it was done behind her back."

This was the statement of Justice Morschauser at White Plains at the close of the divorce suit of Harold Osterhoudt against Harriet Osterhoudt, the woman with the Madonna face.

Mrs. Osterhoudt's whereabouts are a mystery. Her husband declares he has no idea where she is and his attorney, Edwin F. Merrill, says he has been unable to trace her, but hopes to do so.

Willis Vernon Cole, Christian Science practioner, who is corespondent, and with whom, witnesses testified, Mrs. Osterhoudt "dearied, dollied, hugged, kissed" and passed more than one night in this city and New Jersey, would not see reporters. He announced, through his stenographer, he had nothing to add to his statement of Wednesday that he was not surprised; that the action was all a "money thing" and that he would not pay "a cent of tribute."

With Mr. Cole silent it could not be learned whether he knows where Mrs. Osterhoudt is. Mr. Merrill said that Osterhoudt will bring suit for $100,000 against Cole for alienation of Mrs. Osterhoudt's affections.

Cole is prominent in Christian Science. He was at one time the reader in the Twelfth Church of Christ, Scientist, and was the central figure in the fight of the county medical society to restrain science "healers" from practising.

To Keep Hair in Wave on Damp or Windy Days

Use Plain Liquid Silmerine

This is a secret that will be appreciated by any lady who dislikes the "nervous" task of twisting her locks around a heated iron, perhaps singeing the hair burning off the ends, and blistering fingers and scalp. From any druggist procure a few ounces of pure Liquid Silmerine, pour a little onto a clean tooth brush and draw this down the full length of the hair just before doing it up. The hair will have a wonderfully soft, pretty curliness, much more natural looking, glossier and livelier in appearance than where a waving iron has been used, and the effect will last much longer. Silmerine is neither sticky nor greasy, and there will be no trouble doing up the hair in any style. It will hold its curl even in damp, foggy or windy weather.

BRITAIN'S "VOLSTEAD" PREDICTS VICTORY

London, April 20 (By International News Service).—The British House of Commons today was brought face to face with the prohibition issue when B. Seymgour was given an opportunity to move the second reading of his measure to make Britain "bone dry."

"Prohibition has been the real issue in the House of Commons," said Seymgour, "the Volstead of Great Britain." "I do not disguise from myself that this bill will be defeated. But it is only our first bill. We are organizing and are preparing to win."

THE STORE FOR MEN
A Separate Store in a Separate Building

Formerly A. Shuman & Co. Boston

Washington Street at Summer

"The Store for Men is exactly what we men want in Boston."

Mr. Copley Visits Our Tailor Shops

Boston men are glad to know definitely that the same manufacturing of clothing, which was so important a part of the Shuman business, is continued under the new management.

The fact of the matter is there has been no change. A. Shuman & Co. manufactured a distinctly high-grade quality of men's clothing. I know this of my own personal knowledge, for I have visited the shops and watched the whole process.

The careful manner in which every piece of woolen is bought, cold-water shrunk and tested; the rigid inspection of every step of the manufacturing; the hand stitching that goes into the inside tailoring; the big, airy rooms flooded with daylight—all tell the story of high-class work.

These shops have been taken over in their entirety by Jordan Marsh Company and are continued on the same basis, with the same identical force of designers, cutters and expert tailors as before. The suits and overcoats made in these shops will be sold only through the new STORE FOR MEN.

This is one of my reasons for believing so thoroughly in the STORE FOR MEN. It is exactly what we men want—a store quietly masculine, thoroughly friendly, with man-to-man personal service in the selection of quality clothing that has the real tailored-in goodness at moderate prices.

Yours for better apparel,

DEAD AT BIRTH, BABY'S LIFE IS RESTORED BY ADRENALIN

NO BREATH FOR TEN MINUTES

Child Has No Heart Action Until Injection of Remedy Is Administered

New York, April 20.—Official announcement was made by physicians of Ann May Hospital in Spring Lake, N. J., of a case in which a baby, born seemingly dead, was revived by four injections of adrenalin after all other methods of resuscitation had failed.

Dr. James F. Ackerman, president of the medical board of the hospital, who administered the adrenalin, and Mrs. Margaret L. Brown, acting director of nurses, who was present, said that to all appearances the child was dead when the drug was used.

The child, a girl, was born on Thursday, April 12, and Dr. Ackerman said that she was now improving and he expects her to live. Announcement of the case was delayed to make sure that the child would survive.

The mother was Mrs. James Miller of No. 510 Fifth avenue, Belmar, wife of a wholesale commission merchant of Asbury Park. Her child was born three weeks prematurely and within twenty-four hours after the mother had undergone an operation for appendicitis. Anesthetics were adminstered at the time of the appendicitis operation and morphine was given to the mother afterward to relieve pain.

Describing the case, Dr. Ackerman said:

"To all appearances the child was dead when it was born. I worked over it for probably ten minutes using the common methods in respiration. I could not revive it. The baby showed no signs of life for ten minutes and I believed it was dead.

"I resorted to adrenalin, injecting five minims into the heart muscles and the result was immediate. The child breathed for the first time and I noted a heart pulsation. In a few minutes it apparently went out again and I injected five minims more. The result was the same as in the first injection.

"On the third time I increased the dose of adrenalinto fifteen minims. The child lived. Throughout the night it breathed slowly and its color came back. It was white when born.

"Next day at eleven o'clock the baby apparently went out again. Dr. E. C. Wagner was called, administered five minims more of adrenalin. The child has since been improving.

Dies in Auto Where He Slept After Row With Wife

Duluth, April 20.—Sleeping in his automobile in a garage at the rear of his home because he was estranged from his young wife, Alphonse Plisson, was asphyxiated by monoxide gas.

When companions entered the garage the engine was still running. He had slept in the car for two months, police were told.

SOUTH END MAN IS KILLED BY GAS

William Conati, fifty-five years old, a lodger at No. 12 Rollins street, South End, was found overcome by gas from an open jet in his room today by Mrs. Mary Bithony, landlady.

She dragged him to the hall, called the police and had him hurried to the City Hospital. He was dead when he arrived there. Police were inclined to believe the death accidental.

FACTORY WORKERS FEAR KLANSMEN

By International News Service.

Bastrop, La., April 20.—Complaints that hooded men have been intimidating Bastrop factory workers are being investigated today by District-Attorney David I. Garret, of Munroe. The affidavit filed stated that hooded men have been prowling around their premises at night and their workmen have been intimidated.

Ku Klux Klan disclaims any part in the depredations and has offered a reward of $60 for the arrest and conviction of anyone found trespassing while wearing the regalia of the organization.

R. I. STATE PAY HELD UP BY FILIBUSTER

By CHARLES O. POWER.

Providence, April 20.—Republican senators are looking for a way out of the gloom which enshrouds them. They are not at all of one mind about this filibuster they are engaged in and it is the Republicans and not the Democrats who are filibustering.

They caucused at the close of the last session in a vain endeavor to agree upon a plan that would enable them to wield their majority effectively. Some of the farmers and the fishermen among the Republican Senators who hear the soil and the sea calling them are eager to quit the fooling and get down to business if it is said.

Today is the second pay day which will bring nothing to the State employes. The embarrassment to minor employes is deeply regretted by the Governor, who is sorry the loss could not be confined to the Republican Senators, whose failure to promote legislation he says, is to blame for it.

SHERMAN WEARY.

Senator Arthur A. Sherman, a Republican leader by virute of his position as elected president pro tem of the body, is quoted as being tired of the wrangling and hopelessness of passage of the appropriation bill unless the Democrats are given a chance to advocate the measures which are based upon their campaign promises and to put the members of the Senate on record on them.

Other Republican Senators are known to share his opinion, but they do not want to go counter to the wishes of the committee of special legislation. Five Senators are reported to be especially earnest in their opposition to certain of the Democratic bills.

Two of them, Senator Sanderson and Senator Watson, are Republicans; one, Senator Grinnell, was elected as an independent with a Democratic indorsement; while the other two Senators, Cole and Hopkins, were elected on a Democratic platform and branded as Democrats.

UNION SENATOR RENEGES.

It seems strange about Watson. He is a member of the Granite Cutters' Union of Westerly, whose members work a forty-four-hour week and are seeking one of forty hours. Many people wonder why he does not help to bring forth the forty-hour bill. The regular Democrats who are standing by their platform pledges no longer recognize Grinnell, Hopkins or Cole as brothers in the faith, but class them as renegades.

Senator Sherman is credited with a sincere desire to bring about a dignified adjournment, but is not receiving much aid and comfort from his party associates.

Dozing was the principal occupation of certain members of the Senate yesterday. At one time six of them were on the way to snoreland, four being Republican, one a Democrat and another a pseudo-Democrat. There was a general titter when the latter was aroused after a vigorous tickling of the back of his neck by a playful colleague.

Bernhardt Leaves Only Few Trinkets for Family

Paris, April 20.—When her debts are paid, the estate of Sarah Bernhardt, famous actress, will be pitifully small. Nothing is left save a few trinkets willed to members of her family and Mme. DeGourney, who, during the last five years of the actress' life, was her faithful companion and confidante.

TRIAL OF MORSES FINALLY BEGINS

Chas. W. Morse

Washington, April 20.—Charles W. Morse, former banker and shipbuilder, went on trial here today with his three sons and five others associated with him in shipbuilding during the war, in which activities the government alleges it was mulcted out of thousands of dollars.

The trial began in District Supreme Court before Justice Stafford, ending a long period of delays and continuances. It is expected the trials will consume many weeks. The trials were ordered opened despite the objection of attorneys for Harry F. Morse, one of the sons, that their client was seriously ill of heart disease and might not be able to stand the strain.

BRITAIN TO PROTEST HATZFELD OUSTING

London, April 20.—The question of the dismissal of Count Hatzfeld as representative of Germany on the Rhineland High Commission will be raised by Britain at the next meeting of the Council of Ambassadors.

Britain has consistently opposed the plan to eject Count Hatzfeld from the commission because his presence enabled Lord Kilmarnock the British representative on the commission, to keep in touch with German thought and action.

Making a strong appeal for a larger organization of women in the Catholic Church, the Archbishop said: "If you want peace, go to a cemetery. There has been too much peace in the church. When a church becomes too peaceful there is something wrong with that church."

ANTI-BOLSHEVIKS SHOOT COMMUNISTS

London, April 20.—A dispatch from Riga to the Daily News says that reports from Moscow tell of anti-Bolshevik uprisings which have occurred recently in South Russia.

It was said Novorazsiak was occupied by green peasant troops, who shot many Communists. A peasant uprising also was reported from Tiraspol, and the insurgents were said to be marching on Odessa.

CHINAMAN BEATEN IN SOMERVILLE CAR

Charles Sing, a Chinaman who conducts a laundry at No. 76½ Berkeley street, Somerville, was severely manhandled and beaten in a street car at Benten road and Hudson street, Somerville. The bewildered Chinaman could give only a vague description of his assailants. He could give no motive for the attack.

BOSS WHIPPER TELLS HOW HE LASHED BOY

Tallahassee, Fla., April 20.—Walter Higginbotham, the whipping boss, under indictment for murder as a result of the flogging and subsequent death of Martin Tabert, admitted to the legislative investigating committee that he whipped the North Dakota youth on three occasions and flogged convicts about ten times a week—for which he received $45 a month and board for himself and family.

Higginbotham was the star witness for the Putnam Lumber Company, to whom Tabert had been farmed out for a petty crime. Instead of the raw-boned giant of the rough and ready type the committee had expected to see, they found a mild-mannered young man of thirty-five, weighing a scant 150 pounds, only five feet seven inches tall.

TABERT "LAYING DOWN."

On the Friday night that Tabert was whipped, Higginbotham said he came in from work and was lined up with the rest of the gang. The guard in charge, he said, had twice before reported Tabert was "laying down and wouldn't work" and this night reported him a third time.

Higginbotham said he called Tabert out of line and gave him ten or seven lashes, after which Tabert rejoined the line and went into mess with the rest of the gang. He declared it would have been impossible for him to have placed his foot on Tabert's neck and whip him at the same time, as witnesses had charged. After the whipping, he said, he did not notice any bruises or discoloring on Tabert's back.

ADVOCATES CHURCH FIGHTING SPIRIT

Baltimore, Md., April 20.—"The greatest work the church has to do today is to broaden its outlook and get the fighting spirit," declared Archbishop Curley in a vigorous address at the annual meeting of the Baltimore Archdiocesean Council of the National Council of Catholic Women.

The Netherall

Improves Your Dancing

For the lithe, girlish, figure there is no greater aid to better dancing than The Netherall. It gives just the right amount of support and control and yet does not restrict freedom of movement.

Better dancing isn't the only improvement. You just ought to see how much better your dance frock looks when worn over The Netherall. In one garment it replaces vest, bust confiner and girdle—emphasizing the smooth, slim lines of youth.

It's cool, comfortable, practical—made of summer mesh, silk jersey and suede cloth, and various combinations of these materials. In dainty shades of flesh, orchid and white.

LARKIN FACES NEW ARREST IN IRELAND

New York, April 20.—"Jim" Larkin, Communist-Labor agitator, who is to be deported to Ireland, may be seized by the Free State authorities upon his arrival, owing to his Republican sympathies it was reported in Irish circles here today.

James Larkin.

Larkin, who was recently released from prison, where he was serving a term for criminal anarchy is detained at Ellis Island pending further instructions from Washington regarding his disposal.

Funeral services for the late Laurance Ginnell, envoy of Eamonn de Valera at Washington, were held at Carmelite Cathedral Church this morning. The body will be shipped to Ireland tomorrow. Ginnell was formerly a member of the "Irish Republican government."

WADSWORTH AND HARVEY CONFER

London, April 20 (By International News Service).—Assistant Secretary of the American Treasury Elliot Wadsworth, who came here from Paris to explain details of the Anglo-American debt funding agreement to the British conferred today with George Harvey, the American ambassador. Later he called at the Treasury Department to discuss technical details with the British officials.

Filene's

Our New Men's Store

—where it is

THE NEW FILENE Men's Store will be at 400 Washington Street, next door to our present store, in a building which has a heritage of fine clothes and square dealing from its former occupants—Macullar Parker Company.

This building at 400 Washington Street was built before the Boston fire in 1872, which destroyed all of the building except the front. It was rebuilt in 1873 according to original plans. But it was one of those buildings built "not for a day, but for all time."

It was built at a time (1873) when ceiling height was deemed more necessary than it is now; when handwork rather than machine work was used for decoration.

You will find in the new Filene Men's Store the original hand-carved Corinthian columns, dating back to 1873.

This building contained the first elevator in the city of Boston.

The front of this building is entirely of marble—one of the few marble fronts in existence in Boston. More than a year ago, when decision was made to take up our option on this property, architects were commissioned to present sketches for a new front for what should be typically a MEN'S BUILDING.

Numerous plans were drawn, but the interesting fact was finally realized that no finer specimen of architecture could be used than the severely classic marble front which had been placed there so many years ago.

Of distinctly different design from our Main Store, it nevertheless harmonizes to a great degree with the building of which we are so proud. Yet it emphasizes, we think, the fact that it is a "man's building."

New stairways, new elevators and new lights have been installed. The entire store has been refinished and painted.

The lights are the new "Celestialite," a semi-indirect lighting system, decided upon after many experiments. The floors are Duraflex, a composition which is noiseless and firm, yet yielding and easy to walk on.

The show windows are designed to give customers a view of merchandise displayed therein from all angles, and an unobstructed view in a way that the ordinary window could not possibly give.

THIS new Filene Men's Store will be reached directly from Washington Street without going into any other part of the Filene store, or it may be reached by entrances from either the first or second floors of our present building.

We feel sure Boston will like this new store. We feel doubly sure men will continue to like, in their new location, the Filene Values which have made our men's business today an outstanding success.

Opening date—Monday, April 30

—the new Filene's Men Store

STEAMER DISABLED DURING HEAVY GALE

London, April 20.—The American steamer Saturnia has arrived at Brixham en route to New York from Riga. She reports encountering four severe gales with heavy snows.

The vessel suffered breaks in her steering gear on four occasions. After losing the use of the steering gear, the Saturnia drifted while huge seas swept her decks. The chief officer and seven of the crew were injured, and received medical treatment on arrival at Brixham.

"JEALOUSY" CHARGE IN DIVORCE SUIT

Providence, April 20.—James McLaughlin, wealthy Cumberland lumberman, has brought suit in Reno, Nevada, for divorce from Belle Stanton McLaughlin. She is given forty days to appear in her defense. McLaughlin charges his wife threatened his life, and that he spent $29,000 to cure her of a drug habit. Her jealousy makes life unbearable, he says. Mrs. McLaughlin previously withdrew a divorce suit she had filed.

WILSON CALLS FOR BEER AND WINE PLANK

Washington, April 20. — Ex-President Wilson advises the Democratic Party to adopt a plank to amend the Volstead act to permit the sale of light wines and beer.

He declares the Volstead act is not only a failure but is also steadily breaking down respect for law and order and the conditions are rapidly growing worse.

Woodrow Wilson.

This is reported by those who have talked with him recently. They have represented him as of the belief the issue is not between the wets and the drys, but between the fanatical dry element and those who desire temperance with the abolition of drinks containing a high percentage of alcohol.

He has been in communication with many Democratic leaders and has received hundreds of letters attesting what he believes the country-wide feeling to this effect.

SLEEPING SICKNESS DELAYS STOCK PROBE

New York, April 20.—After effects of sleeping sickness caused postponement of the examination in the bankruptcy proceedings of Louis M. Kardos, failed stock brokers of New York and Boston. Kardos was managing director of Kardos & Burke, which closed last February with liabilities estimated at $1,500,000 and assets of $150,000. A large number of Boston and New England investors lost heavily.

$6,000,000 IN ASSETS MISSING

New York, April 20.—The books of E. M. Fuller & Company, defunct stock brokers, were ordered turned over to the trustee in bankruptcy. This action was taken after attorneys representing 4,000 creditors complained that $6,000,000 in gilt-edged assets has disappeared. Fuller is now being tried in the Federal Court for the third time on charges of running a bucket shop.

3 WOMEN FIGHT FOR ASHES OF HINDU PRINCE

New York, April 20.—Three attractive women are fighting here today over the ashes of an Hindu author, who claimed to be a prince. One is a Follies girl, Irene Macmillan; one is the wife of a wealthy manufacturer, Mrs. Herman Behr, and the identity of the other beauty is kept a dark secret.

The Hindu poser was Sarath Kumar Ghosh, who died here three years ago and whose ashes were discovered in a funeral parlor several months ago. The Follies beauty inherited a fortune from two-thirds of the Hindu's estate, as directed by his will.

Mrs. Behr claims to have aided the author materially during his life and therefore has a right to carry his ashes to India with her and throw them into the Ganges as he wished.

Miss Marcellus refused to marry the Hindu and he pined away.

COURT BACK DOOR TO LEAGUE SAYS REED

New York, April 20. — Senator James A. Reed of Missouri attacked the proposed World Court, characterizing it as a back door method of dragging the United States into future European wars. He also made an attack upon Lord Cecil, who is now seeking to explain the so-called advantages of the League of Nations during a tour of America.

The occasion was the dinner of the American Drug Manufacturers' Association at the Hotel Biltmore.

FOUND IN NORTH END MINUS TIP OF NOSE

Antonio DeCosta Veloza of Canal street, New York, is minus the tip of his nose.

Apparently the missing section of the organ was amputated by a razor or other sharp instrument, according to the police deduction.

The injured man was found in a second floor room at No. 326 Commercial street, North End. Cirabo Gomez, lodger in the same house, is being held on suspicion. He denies the cutting. Veloza refuses to talk.

'MYSTERY GIRL' IN CURTISS CASE LEFT $150,000

Pittsfield, April 20.—The "mystery girl" for whom the late Roy A. Curtiss, millionaire sportsman and banker of Sheffield and New York, wanted to divorce his wife, is expected to appear to claim $150,000 insurance which he took out in her name.

Curtiss left his entire fortune to his divorced wife in his will and in the sensational divorce proceedings which shortly preceded his death the identity of the supposed New York stenographer was never revealed. Although she was often referred to. The report of the $150,000 insurance policy and expectation of a contest by either the divorced wife or the "mystery girl" follow the probating of the will here.

Curtiss was forty-two years old and married Miss Ethel Quinn of New York in 1907. They had four sons and for thirteen years were apparently devoted.

In 1920, according to the testimony of the wife in her suit for divorce, her husband came to her and told her he had met a woman with whom he was infatuated and requested her to get a divorce. She refused. Then began a campaign of abusive treatment, she said, for which she later asked divorce. The divorce was granted after the case, which attracted widespread attention, had been carried to the Supreme Court. The lower court was not satisfied cruelty had been proven. Curtiss was stricken with pneumonia a few days after the granting of the decree and died within a few days.

The will left the entire fortune to "my beloved wife" with a trust fund for the children. No mention was made of the "mystery girl" and until the report of the insurance policy, it was supposed she had been left penniless.

RAILROAD WAGES OVER TWO BILLIONS

Washington, April 20.—Wages paid by the railroads of the United States during 1922 totalled $2,669,310 to maintain an average of 1,645,245 employes, according to figures of the Public Commerce Commission.

Frances Fairchild Appears as 'King Tut,' Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

ACCORDING to all reports, lovely Frances Fairchild made a very striking King Tut at the Egyptian pageant and ball held at the Ritz-Carlton the other night.

Mrs. "Jack" Fairchild's slender daughter made a hoar of friends among the younger set of Boston, where she and her family made their home until just a few years ago. It must have been quite a sight to see Miss Fairchild as the youthful Pharaoh walk first from the stage and across the ballroom with her attending priestess and two Nubian bodyguards. All the colors which were found upon the figures of the long-sleeping king's tomb brightened the royal raiment worn by his modern impersonator the other evening.

A lot of stage and society folk attended the affair, given for the Women's Industrial Alliance. Many came in costumes breathing of the mystery and romance of the Nile valley. There were irresistible Cleos, several Mark Anthonys, as well as Egyptian kings and queens and gods.

MRS. E. SOHIER WELCH of Beacon street is one of the many matrons interested in the career of the South End Music School. Apropos of this school, Ruth St. Denis and some of her company will give a performance the first week in May at the Boston Opera House to aid the settlement. Mrs. Thomas Thacher, one of the leading spirits for this coming event, will divulge further plans about the school at a dinner to be given on Friday evening, April 27, at the Chilton Club.

IT was a very enthusiastic gathering which greeted the band of Hasty Pudding Club players for their initial appearance in Washington with their annual show, "Take a Brace."

The play was given at the Belasco Theatre, the President and Mrs. Harding in the audience, as were also many important personages of the capital's social and diplomatic circles. Under Secretary of State and his wife, Mrs. William Phillips, had a box. Mr. Phillips is a member of the Harvard '00 class. Gordon Means added further to the Boston representation.

Various members of the Lodge family were there, too, of course, as young Henry Cabot Lodge, 2d, and grandson of Senator Lodge, is manager of the band. His cousin, Mrs. Gardner Minot (Constance Gardner) had a box party for the guests whom she had previously entertained at dinner. Following the performance, Mrs. Minot was hostess at a dance given in honor of members of the cast, to which were also bidden members of the capital's younger coterie.

LENIN'S POLICY AFFIRMED BY COMMUNISTS

Moscow, April 20.—By the Associated Press.—The All-Russian Communist Party Congress wound up two days of debate today with the passage of resolutions approving the central committee's policy. This includes firm adherence to the dictatorship of the proletariat, a strict monopoly on foreign trade, party direction of the economic construction of the country and approval of the export of grain.

The resolution censured any sort of a break in the solid wall of the Soviet's international policy.

The Pravda states the real meaning of this action is that the party is marching "under the banner and in the footsteps of Lenine," and that the party has demonstrated that it is against any revision of principles.

ORDINARILY there's a good deal of difference between the looks and the wear of a pair of silk stockings. The daily grind and the weekly scrub soon settle the fate of stockings that you "weren't quite sure about" when you bought them.

But you can be sure about Century Brand stockings. They are made for Chandler's by two of the best known hosiery mills in America. They are knitted of fine, clear, tested silk. They are doubly reinforced with fine lisle at the heel, toe and garter top.

There are two grades:

1. All silk [ingrain] with lisle-lined garter top and sole
2. Pure-dye silk with lisle top and sole

The price of each, in black and every fashionable color, is $1.95.

JUANITA WINS BATTLE WITH DRUGS BY OWN WILL

In today's article of her remarkably frank series Juanita Hansen tells of her great triumph—her cure of the drug habit! Her joy in her freedom was unbounded, and she went at once to her mother. She said that she thought her mother the happiest woman in the world when she saw her. One look in her eyes, and the mother knew! How she gave thanks for her release and played in the sunshine for weeks is told in this article

By JUANITA HANSEN.

Copyright, 1923, by the N. Y. American.

For one month I fought the hardest battle I have ever known—fought to break the tiny but powerful little thread that held me to the chain of narcotics.

One tiny quarter grain of morphine a day!

Could this be possible? I often asked myself. Why was I not strong enough to break away once and for all? I had cut down from six grains a day to a quarter of a grain. Yet, in reality, I was still a victim, no matter whether the link be large or small! I was still bound.

Juanita Hansen

For one month I put up this fight. I walked every day, sometimes fifteen miles. I was up every morning at 6, to bed not later than 9.30, and to all appearances I was cured.

I ALONE KNEW THE REAL TRUTH. I WAS NOT FREE.

This is what tortured my soul and at times made me feel that I was going mad.

Miss Hansen's next article will appear exclusively in tomorrow's Boston American. Back copies containing these articles may be obtained at No. 80 Summer street.

Cured by Physician

Then I met a man who was to help me believe once more in doctors. This man had at one time been an addict. He had been cured by a doctor in Oakland four years before I met him. The moment I looked into his face I knew he was speaking the truth. The 'indefinable something' told him that I was battling to free myself from drug addiction.

Twenty four hours later I was in this doctor's sanitarium in Oakland. Twenty-four hours more and I was off. I WAS FREE OF THE NARCOTIC CHAIN.

What was the secret this doctor alone held? Here he had done the work in twenty-four hours that I had been fighting for three months to accomplish.

THE CURE—THE ONLY REAL CURE I HAD EVER KNOWN!

Praise for Her Doctor

To this doctor and his marvelous cure, his kindness and patience with me, I attribute my success in finally severing the very last link that bound me to this cursed narcotic chain.

Just what this cure consists of, what all the little pills and the medicine are for, I do not know. But I do know that twenty-four hours after I placed myself under his care the desire for narcotics was completely gone.

This cure, unlike so many others, is absolutely painless.

Why was this cure so absolutely painless? This doctor knew not only how to cure the addiction and kill the desire, but also how to extract the poison that remained in my system after three years of drugs.

This meant a rigid diet. One week with a ravenous appetite. With just a little tea or broth and one cracker every day to satisfy it. How I used to beg the doctor for just one more little cracker, but I NEVER ONCE ASKED THE DOCTOR FOR ANY NARCOTICS.

Wins Fight Herself

When I sought to explain how much I appreciated what he had done for me in the fortnight I was in his sanitarium the doctor would say:

"The success of this cure lies with you. You are the first one that I would really call 100 per cent. cured. Your own desire to break away from this curse is responsible for everything.

"So many addicts come to me for my cure! How much I want to help them! But I become discouraged at times. Very few have come voluntarily and out of these very few have tried to help themselves. You have been in the mountains doing all you could for yourself.

"You stood upon your own resources as long as you could. You fought on until there was but one tiny barrier between yourself and your cure. Then you came here to me. You have gone over the top beautifully. I merely helped you.

"Most of the addicts that come here are forced either by relatives or by the law. I cure them, yes. I take away the narcotics. I try to urge each and every one to be careful on leaving here.

"Of this I warn you, Juanita. Be careful of associates. Do not get near anyone who uses narcotics. Forget them."

"Tomorrow" Arrives

The many talks that I had with the doctor helped me to fortify myself. I was able to cope with the situation when I left the sanitarium. The doctor used to say:

"Tomorrow, Juanita, tomorrow you will be stronger and maybe you can go into the garden for a little while."

But the "tomorrows" always seemed so far away and one day a little thought occurred to me. I set it down in my diary:

TOMORROW

Within four small walls is a shadow
Of me, I am all alone,
Waiting for tomorrow—
I wonder if you will come.

To be free to play in the sunshine
For only a little spell.
I would gladly come back to the darkness
Of this poor little lonely cell.

Finally "TOMORROW" came! The door opened and I was free to play in the sunshine!

I was free, absolutely free, from the narcotic chain.

Now home to mother! I caught the first train going south. I did not wire my mother. I wanted to surprise her, and I surely did. I think mother was the happiest woman in the world when she saw me. One look into my eyes and my mother knew the truth.

Great tears of thankfulness rolled down her cheeks. I stayed home for three weeks and I played as I never played before. How happy I was in the sunshine!

Free! Free at last.

The desire for narcotics had left me. I had served my sentence. At last I had severed the last link.

All Columbia Records are now made by the new process

EVERY Columbia Record made since the Columbia new process was perfected, has been constructed with the super-quiet new surface.

Not only has this added musical charm been given to the rich symphonic selections, but also to the songs of the hour, the latest dance music, and the always dear old-fashioned melodies.

Never since the phonograph was invented have the music-loving public been able to listen to phonographic music so nearly like the original in unmarred melody, so delightfully free from the scratch and scrape of needle noise

This never-before-known surface quietness results from the Columbia process of constructing records in layers or leaves—a hard centre core overlaid with a material of such exquisite smoothness that the noise of needle friction is never created

As an example of this great musical accomplishment go to any Columbia Dealer and ask to hear record A-3831. It is "Peggy Dear," one of the latest fox-trots, gloriously played by the Happy Six. It is like listening to the orchestra itself. And as you listen, note the absence of that old, irritating grinding sound of the needle.

All Columbia New Process Records are equally delightful. They can be played on any phonograph.

The Columbia process is patented. Only in Columbia New Process Records can you secure this perfect reproduction of perfect music.

ADVERTISE YOUR WANTS IN THE BOSTON AMERICAN

DOES 500 MILES WITH AMERICAN AS TIRE PATCH

The following letter from W. B Andrews, an electrical contractor of Whitman, was received at the office of the Boston American today. We are undecided as to whether his account of the incident is a "knock" or a "boost," but in either case Andrews gets two tickets to "Lightnin'." The letter:

"On a recent return trip from Boston I was forced to stop my car after the report which is well known and a dread to most motorists—a blowout. My spare tire I had used on my way into Boston due to the picking up of a nail, so I proceeded to repair the shoe.

"After taking it from the rim I took my Boston American, which I had just bought, and put same over the hole in the shoe, putting in another tube, and in about twenty minutes I was on my way. As I was quite busy for over a week I did not stop to change the tire, and when I did my speedometer showed I had driven my car over 500 miles.

"In the future I shall make it a point to see that I have a Boston American in my car, and would suggest that any motorist who has tire trouble due to a blowout, stone bruise or rough place in the shoe, can easily make quick repairs and use same shoe by using a Boston American as a patch, as it will outwear any blowout patch made today."

WE'RE IT--GREAT AIN'T IT?

Jess coz we're willing to let you haveem for a small profit it makes em mad—$17.50—S'nuff forem, but they're trying to FORCE you to pay $25.00. Great ain't it? You notice this ad. don't DENY that they are the REAL GENUINE ARTICLE, and the guarantee of "Raymond's" will no doubt suit you better than that of ANY CONCERN who would FORCE you to pay more than is necessary.

"For your own protection" you can buy one for $17.50 with "Raymond's" guarantee, and there's no better protection in the world.

No doubt the firms mentioned ARE 100% reliable, so's Raymond's 200% if necessary, SOWHATTHEHELLSTHEMATTERWITHEM?

They cost us $15.00 and we let the people haveem for $17.50 and I'd like to have someone experienced in big profits explain why it is necessary to soak the people $25.00 for an article costing $15.00.

Same ole story that I've hollered 'bout for years.

We have Thirty-Six in stock at this writing and this ad. is not specially for the purpose of selling em but to let the people know to what extent such practices can be carried and the methods adopted against "Raymond's" simply because we are willing to let the public have standard goods without fancy profits.

EVEN POLICE ARE LOCKED UP AT NIGHT

Found—A use for the key to the city.

Since the starting of the custom of presenting the symbol of Boston's hospitality to distinguished visitors, countless persons have wondered whether this key had any utilitarian purpose.

It has. It is to unlock the city after midnight.

Bostonians are supposed to be home by that hour, therefore they don't have these keys, but visitors might be out later, hence the need.

For each night they lock the South Station. They lock the subways, and now—

They lock police stations.

It's a fact. The spry night police reporter had to get in one. He did, but, my, what an effort! He darn near awoke the North End beating a vigorous tattoo on the doors of Hanover street police station.

A faint stir inside, then the clack of a bolt shot back and a policeman stuck his head out and wanted to know, "What's wanted?"

The police reporter stepped in. The door was locked behind him. He asked his information and the door was unlocked for him. It was locked again as he left.

No wonder Mayor Curley ordered a new supply of keys.

BERNARD CORR DEAD IN DORCHESTER

Bernard Corr, ninety-six years old, died at his home, No. 80 Magnolia street, Dorchester. For many years he was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, was at one time president of the Charitable Irish Society, enjoyed the reputation of being one of the oldest members of the Boston Catholic Union, and was identified with newspaper publications throughout the country.

Mr. Corr, one of Boston's pioneer newspaper men, has been affiliated with many papers in this city. He commenced his career as a "printer's devil," and worked his way to the position of publisher.

TELLS HARDING COURT PLAN WILL NOT DO

Washington, April 20.—Expressing the belief that Republican opposition to the administration world court membership was even stronger than that against entrance into the League of Nations, Representative Will R. Wood of Indiana, chairman of the Republican Congressional campaign committee, today told President Harding he believed that it was a mistake for the party to urge the proposition.

FIGHT PLAN TO LINK ORIENT BY RADIO

San Francisco, April 20.—Plans of the Federal Telegraph Company to link China and the United States by an American wireless system have met with unexpected foreign opposition at Peking, according to recent cable advices. British and particularly Japanese opposition, backed by official representations to the Chinese foreign office, have held up Chinese validation of the Federal's 1920 contract with China.

HOME ROBBED AS THEY ARE AT DEATHBED

While Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyers, Jr., Chauncy street, East Dedham, were next door today at the bedside of Mr. Meyers' dying mother their home was robbed of $90.

Mr. Meyers, Jr., is a machinist foreman at Charlestown Navy Yard. His wife is a nurse. They have one side of a double house. Mr. Mayers' parents have the other side.

The young Mrs. Meyers has been nursing her mother-in-law. The younger couple were called into the home of the elders at 1 30 a. m. on account of the sinking condition of Mrs. Meyers senior.

When one of them returned home later in the morning discovery was made that the house had been entered by a dining room window and the money taken from a sideboard drawer.

HUNDREDS FLEE CANADIAN FLOODS

Winnipeg, Man., April 20 (By International News Service).—Heavy damage has been done to property and hundreds of persons driven from their homes by floods in the Assiniboine and Red Rivers, according to reports reaching here today. Residents of Brooklands, a suburb of Winnipeg, fled from their homes in boats when the Red River overflowed.

BARR CONFIDENT HIS FIGHT FOR PAROLE WON

James Barr, seeking parole after serving twenty-three years of a life sentence for a social crime, believes the Governor's Council will act favorably in his case.

Several weeks ago, the State Board of Parole gave Barr a hearing at the State Prison. The board recommended Barr's sentence be commuted to thirty years, which would make him eligible for parole now. The Governor's Council recently met to take action on the Barr case, but postponed making a definite decision.

Previous to the meeting of the Governor's Council, the Council held a hearing at which a score of Barr's friends testified in his behalf.

Barr is backed in his plea by sixty thousand members of Scottish organizations throughout the State. Through them, a home will be provided for the prisoner when he is released, and a position secured for him with a large Boston department store. Barr's home was in Fitchburg.

SNOW TO LIVE WITH GORILLAS IN JUNGLE

New York, April 20.—H. A. Snow of the [illegible] Cal. Museum of Natural History plans to make moving pictures of [illegible] life in the African jungle on his next exploration trip which he [illegible] start in June.

"I want to bring out a family of gorillas, male and female and [illegible] to take pictures which have never before been photographed," Mr. Snow said here today. "[illegible] above all I am going to live in the gorilla country.

"I am going to build myself a huge cage in the forests and live there for two months or longer. I am going to be a real monkey. I am going to kill my food thirty miles away and dry it, and I am going to take in enough so I won't have to kill anything after I get there.

"I am going to get friendly with the [illegible] gorillas, feed them and let them whisper their family secrets to me.

"When they have come to regard me as a real friend, I am going to cut off the tops of the trees, let in the sunlight and get a real picture."

THIS IS GEORGE HOLLAND, WHO HAS LEASED THE FINE ARTS Theatre, and is going to make it Boston's Dollar Playhouse. It is an interesting experiment, because Holland promises to get out of the rut in which the theatre has floundered for years. How will Boston take it?

ADVICE TO A YOUNG MAN ENTERING UPON A THEATRICAL VENTURE

Mr. George Holland, Fine Arts Theatre, Massachusetts avenue and Norway street, Boston

Dear George:

It has come to my ears that you are starting a new theatre in Boston. You promise to get out of the rut in which the stage has floundered for years. You have leased the Fine Arts Theatre in Cosmopolis, up Massachusetts avenue way and you're going to make the other George sit up and take notice.

The theatre is very near and very dear to me. Will you forgive me, therefore, if I presume to give you a little advice?

Have you noticed the subtle change that has crept over the craft? Show business is dying and the art of the theatre is coming back. For a generation the American theatre has been in the sordid hands of real estate brokers, honk-a-tonk entrepreneurs, turkey burlesque producers and button-hole makers. I name no names, George. This is a bit of advice, not an attack.

The shrine of these cash register impressari is the box office. Nothing else matters. For years any attempt at art has been promptly and unmercifully booted out of the theatres, not by the public, but by the men who control the theatres. I name no names, George.

Artistic Babies Die A-Borning

Artistic babies died aborning. The priests of the box office have yanked the price of indifferent entertainment up to $3, $4 and sometimes $5. Thereby they automatically deprived the theatre of its life-blood—the patronage and interest of the middle classes, who are too wise to be bilked $3 for the tawdry stuff that's offered at that price. It costs as much today to sit in the balcony as it used to cost to sit downstairs. The result is that the balconies are empty.

But during the past two or three years there has been a wonderful and an astonishing change. With this reverse swing of the pendulum a play-writer named Shakespeare, who had for years been ditched as unworthy suddenly came back and edged half a dozen bedroom farces right out of town. Certain of the old-time producers—I name no names George—saw their cut-to-pattern drivel suddenly meet with hostile disapproval.

Broadway witnessed the unbelievable spectacle of Avery Hopwood flopping in "Why Men Leave Home" and Leonid Andreyev filling a theatre with "He Who Gets Slapped." Sacha Guitry calmly exiled Willard Mack. A man named Murray Anderson suddenly flared up as a spectacular genius in the art of producing musical reviews.

The Theatre Guild gave heartache to the old timers by producing Shaw in a cycle. Eugene O'Neill dwarfed the petty scribes who for years furnished America with plays. Arthur Hopkins came into his own. Brock Pemberton showed that he is here to stay. Gest shook the world of the theatre to its foundations with Chauve Souris and the Moscow Art Theatre. All over the country little theatres sprung up to fill the aching want for good theatre.

New Trend Shown in Boston

Here in Boston, George, within the past week, there have been two remarkable demonstrations of the new trend. A man named Victor Hyde took sixty-five boys and girls, who had never been on a stage before, and whipped them into shape for a production of "Pinafore" that was a veritable sensation. Filene put out a show called "Jerry," in which a cast of floorwalkers, clerks and shop girls did marvellous work.

Alexandra Carlisle, leading woman of "The Fool," took another group of novitiates, rehearsed them in the play, and presented them in a special matinee which gave Channing Pollock, the author of the play, the surprise of his life.

Do you get the idea, George?

Boston needs the kind of a theatre you are planning to give it. Don't charge more than a dollar, George. Some of our best people have lean incomes. We both know.

Don't compete with the Philistines. You'll probably starve the first season, but a little starvation is good for the soul.

I'll be there when you open, George. And I won't crash the gate.

MISSING RUM CAPTAINS IN HAVANA

Capts. John F. King and Michael J. Carmichael, who have been missing since the rum ship John Dwight was sunk off Vineyard Sound on April 6, last, are in Havana, Cuba, according to information received today by the State police investigating the mystery of the loss of eight lives in the disaster.

The two rum runners arrived in the Cuban capital by steamer from New York early this week, according to the advices. Both refused to discuss the sinking of their ship.

All the evidence gathered by the State police and Vineyard Haven officials in connection with the sinking of the ship will be presented by District Attorney Stanley P. Hall when the Grand Jury for Duke's County convenes next Tuesday.

James A. Craven, one of the rum ship victims, who was buried as "James A. Cronan," was a resident of Cambridge until ten years ago when he moved to New Jersey, it was learned today. He was a former life saver at Magazine Beach and his two brothers, who left Cambridge with him, Thomas and William, were railway mail clerks.

RAISE CASH TO AID IRISH CAPTIVES

The Roger Casement Club of Boston met in St. Rose's Hall, South End. J. Mark Carroll presided. Thirty-five dollars was subscribed for the relief of Irish prisoners. A like amount was solicited for the Irish Defence Club. James J. Casey, a member of the Defence Club, spoke on conditions in Ireland

SCOTLAND YARD HEAD URGES DRUG FIGHT

London, April 20.—Sir William Horwood, head of Scotland Yard, sails for New York Saturday to attend the International convention of police chiefs at the invitation of Commissioner Enright of New York.

Sir William Horwood

Sir William intends to bring before the convention the creation of cooperation by the police of the world in a campaign against the enormous traffic in drugs. He will visit Washington as the guest of Ambassador Geddes.

TAKES BLAME FOR BEATING BY WIFE

William Carey, twenty-eight years old, colored, of No. 27 Kendall street, Roxbury, is at the City Hospital, as a result, he says, of being struck with a gas fixture wielded by his wife, Mrs. Minnie Carey. He is suffering from several wounds of the scalp and forehead.

Carey pleaded with the police not to arrest his wife, declaring that he alone was to blame for the trouble. Mrs. Carey was not held.

GEM SWINDLER NOW IN SANITARIUM

New York, April 20.—Maurice Sternback, charged in London with complicity in swindling Xenia Alexandrevna, sister of the late Tsar Nicholas of Russia, of jewels valued at $50,000, is in Rivercrest Sanitarium, Astor, L. I., where his physicians forbid anyone to see him. His doctors believe Sternback mentally unable to give a lucid account of anything at the present time.

TAUNTED WIFE SEEKS DEATH ON R. R.

Bradford Academy Girls Give Up Rouge

BAR GAUDY GOWNS

Conspicuous Combs, Large Earrings and French Heels Are Now Taboo

Haverhill, April 20.—Of their own volition, the girls of Bradford Academy have banned conspicuous clothes, rouge, French heels, plaid hosiery and earrings.

The action was taken by the student committee on dress as a matter of regular business, and it has worked out to be in line also with the general economy and efficiency program of the academy, which is being emphasized in Bradford's $500,000 endowment campaign.

The trunks stored away in the basement may have in them streaks of disapproved finery, but here is what the curious visitor would find hanging in the closet of a typical underraduate:

For class wear—Ginghams, linens, dark cloth dresses of simple design, tweeds of any color, sweaters and middy suits.

For evening wear—Light and dark informal dresses of moderate cut and simple appearance. Extreme combs are disapproved, as are earrings.

Rouge almost escaped mention on the style edict posted on the bulletin board at the chapel door. Cosmetics evidently are not a campus problem.

There may be an occasional experiment over just what constitutes conspicuous clothes, but the committee certainly disposed with the earring question for good.

JUDGE J. M. MORTON, SR. IS DEAD

Father of Federal Court Jurist Expires at 85 After Short Illness

Fall River, April 20.—James Madison Morton, Associate Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts for twenty-three years, who retired in 1913, is dead at his home here. He was the father of Judge James M. Morton, Jr., of the United States District Court at Boston. He succumbed to a brief attack of pneumonia at the age of eighty-five.

Judge Morton was a cousin of the late Chief Justice Marcus Morton.

Judge Morton, Sr.

He was born in Fairhaven. His father moved to Fall River. The youth attended Tauton Academy and Brown University, left Brown in his junior year and was graduated from Harvard Law School in 1861. He entered the office of Judge Lap ham in this city that year.

Soon after he entered partnership with John S. Brayton. This continued until Mr. Brayton was elected clerk of the Bristol County Court.

Mr. Morton practised law alone until 1878 when he formed the law firm of Morton & Jennings and became recognized leader of the Bristol county bar. For several years he was solicitor of Fall River.

He was appointed to the Supreme Judicial Bench in 1890 by the late Governor Brackett to fill the vacancy caused by promotion of Associate Justice Field to be Chief Justice. When he retired one of his judicial associates said of him:

"As a judge Morton was eminent for good sense, directness and simplicity, poise and reasonableness. He was tenacious for truth and principle. As a man he was humorous, genial and kindly. The bar liked especially to try before him cases which turned on question of fact. He had a sort of intuitive faculty for the truth."

GAMMA OMICRON PHI GIVES PLAY TONIGTT

"Daddy," a comedy in three acts will be presented in Hinman Hall, Cambridge, tonight, at eight o'clock, by the Gamma Omicron Phi for the campaign fund of the Cambridge "Y." Miss Sue Foster has the title role. Miss May Richardson and Miss Ruby Webster will play the debutante and the doctor, respectively. Others in the cast are the Misses Gladys Chapman, Marion Hissell, Etta Swett, Carita Rutherford and Doris Ballard. Miss Pauline Kissinger is director.

MANCHESTER BANS MARATHON DANCES

Manchester, N. H., April 20.—Denouncing what he termed "continuous dancing," which he said should be prohibited in every city, Mayor George E. Trudel declared that any effort to stage a dancing contest here will meet with official resistance. "I will do all in my power to stop it," he said

LOSING MATE'S LOVE SHE TRIES TO DIE

ALICE SIMMONS AND N. H. TRACKS WHERE SHE WAS FOUND

POISONED GIRL FOUND ON TRACKS

Mrs. Simmons, Taunted by Husband, Believed to Have Taken Deadly Drug

After a visit to her estranged husband Alice Simmons, eighteen-year-old girl-wife and mother, was found wandering aimlessly along the New Haven tracks near Massachusetts avenue. Three men who found her led her to a drug store where she collapsed.

The men said she appeared to be dazed and was in danger of being hit by a train.

George Simmons

At the City Hospital her name was placed on the danger list. Physicians said she was probably suffering from effects of poisoning.

The girl, who left the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Barry of No. 32 Cedar street, Newton Lower Falls, for a trip to Boston," is believed to have gone directly to the lodging house of her husband George W. Simmons, No. 4 Worcester square, South end.

"Alice and her husband have tried to live together, but without success," her father explained today. "She has persistently tried to get him to take her back. He refuses to support her.

"The baby, Margaret, nine months old, is in our care. Simmons wants the child, but I'm going to bring her up in my way. For a time the couple lived in No. 40 Austin street, Cambridge. Then he stopped supporting her. They tried it again and it ended the same way.

"We all went to some trees here yesterday, and then Alice left for Boston. She is only eighteen and not very wise. Simmons is only twenty-two."

Letters written by the husband to the girl show that she was taunted by his refusals to live with her.

HUSBAND'S TAUNTS.

"Drop me a line and let me know when and where and how I can get Margaret," he wrote. "The baby would get a good home. But I would object to your visits and Margaret would be brought up as if you were dead."

His last letter to her, written from the Worcester square address, said: "That Cambridge trial ball is a big bluff. Almost the same bluff you pulled at Herb's house one night. Why didn't you swallow it? No nerve? Please don't bother me with any more foolishness."

Her father thinks she may have gone to see her husband in reply to these taunts and then gone through with her "bluff."

DANCES TO DEATH IN CONTEST

Youth Dies After Winning Bet; Cleveland Girl Sets New Marathon Record

The first death in the marathon dance craze which is sweeping the country, and which United States health officials have declared threatens to become a menace to public health, is reported from North Tonawanda, N. Y.

There Warner Moorehouse, twenty-seven years old, dropped dead as he was walking off the floor after completing eighty-seven hours of continuous dancing. He had a $500 wager at the Country Club there by beating the then existing record.

Miss June Curry in Cleveland became a new title holder when she completed 99 hours 10 minutes of continuous dancing, ousting the world's champion, Arthur Howard Klein, the man in the mask, who set a mark of 88 hours 16 minutes but a few hours previous. Miss Curry, who started weighing 161 pounds, lost twelve pounds during the long ordeal. She said she would have made it a hundred hours but for contracting a cold.

Meanwhile, undeterred by the opposition of [illegible] York is preparing to carry on a six-day dancing contest in a Times square ballroom. The promoters say they will complete the contest on a barge towed to sea beyond the three-mile limit if the authorities interfere.

HOLIDAY AUTO TOLL: 1 DEAD, 15 INJURED

One dead, one dying and fourteen injured was the holiday toll of automobiles in Boston and the State.

Four-year old Jole Sallo of No. 146 Havre street, East Boston, was run over by an automobile while playing at Havre and Porter streets. The child's skull was fractured and she died at the East Boston Relief Station three hours later.

The automobile was owned and operated by Joseph Romano of No. 92 Green street, Woburn.

Eldorado Fisher of Cross street, Somerville, is dying at the Lawrence General Hospital. Fisher's car skidded when he attempted to pass another on the Reading road, near Andover, and ran into a telegraph pole.

Fisher and his four companions were hurled from the machine.

Two of four companions, who were treated for their injuries by local doctors and sent to their homes.

AUTO RUNS INTO TRAIN.

Six persons, all of Lynn, were injured, two of them seriously, when an automobile driven by J. H. Winston, crashed into the side of the locomotive of a Boston & Maine Railroad passenger train at the crossing west of the depot at Topsfield.

The injured are:

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Winston, No. 270 Chatham street; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gormley and two daughters.

DRIVER LOSES CONTROL.

Swerving in a vain attempt to avoid hitting a child in front of the Lowell School on Centre street, Roxbury, George Collins of No. 20 Delle avenue, Somerville, crashed into another truck. The child, six year-old Dorothy C. Freno of No. 61 Lamartine street, Jamaica Plain, was knocked down and her ankle was fractured. John J. Grady, nineteen years old, of No. 107 Caroline street, who was sitting on the other truck, had his ankle injured.

Harry Schofield of Newburyport lost control of the laundry truck he was driving and the machine smashed into a tree at the head of Carter street in that city. Schofield was found unconscious on the sidewalk.

An automobile ran down Malcolm C. Taylor of No. 5 Shepard street, Cambridge, at Massachusetts avenue and Marlboro street, Back Bay. Taylor's leg was fractured and his scalp was lacerated.

Flaming Klan Cross on Wollaston Golf Links

The flaming cross of the Ku Klux Klan lighting the sky at midnight on the grounds of the Wollaston Golf Club, startled Milton and Quincy and started a police investigation.

Rumors of a secret and midnight session of the Klansmen spread like wild fire, but the police are uncertain as to whether or not the work was that of practical jokers. The charred frame of the cross, around which oiled cloth had been wrapped and lighted, was the only visible clew left.

Mrs. Mclsaac Buried

Mrs. Mary F. McIsaac, wife of Daniel V. McIsaac, Boston lawyer, and former assistant district attorney, was buried from her home, No. 158 Dorchester avenue, South Boston. High mass and requiem were celebrated in St. Augustine's Church. Interment was at St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

19 Still Going in Capital Marathon

Washington, April 20.—The thirty-nine long distance dance record aspirants who swung into the international race at 9.26 p. m. Wednesday night on two local dance floors had dwindled to nineteen as the early hours of today dawned.

Fluttering hearts, aching feet and parental threats had accounted for most of the abandoned hopes, while the sturdy nineteen persisted doggedly in the odd motions still reminiscent of the opening steps.

CHAPEL BUILDING AT BUCKSPORT BURNS

Bucksport, Me., April 20.—The chapel building of the Eastern Maine Conference Seminary at Bucksport was destroyed by fire early today. The chapel was the main school building, being constructed of brick and four stories in height. The basement contained a gymnasium, the second floor contained the assembly hall. The building also served as the high school of the town. It was built about ten years ago at a cost of $40,000. Total loss is set at $50,000.

POSTMASTER FINDS DEAD BABY IN MAIL

Washington, April 20.—The body of an infant was found in a parcel opened by the postmaster at Duncan, Okla., according to a telegram received by Postmaster General New today. An investigation has been ordered.

G. O. P. SPLIT ON LEAGUE SEEN BY HARDING FOE

By WINDER R. HARRIS, Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 20.—Further evidence of the certain split in the Republican party over the Harding-Hughes-Hoover League of Nations court plan, against which Senator Watson of Indiana warned the President on his return from Florida, comes from Mr. Harding's own State.

Former Representative Charles L. Knight of Akron, Progressive Republican leader in Ohio, made public here a letter to Henry W. Ross of Detroit denouncing the court proposal as a "cellar door" entrance into the League of Nations.

SEES OPEN REVOLT.

Any attempt by the Republican leaders to compromise on the league issue, Mr. Knight declared, would bring an open revolt towards a third party.

Mr. Knight retired from Congress to run for the gubernatorial nomination in the Republican primary last year. He made his campaign largely on an anti-administration platform, and although defeated, the successful aspirant for the nomination, Carmi Thompson, endorsed by President Harding, was beaten in the election by the Democratic candidate, Victor Donahey.

MAY RUN FOR GOVERNOR.

With his two daily newspapers in Akron and Springfield and his ample financial resources, Mr. Knight has continued his Progressive activities. He staged the Progressive rally at Akron a few weeks ago, when Senator Borah made the principal speech, calling on the party to "quit gum shoeing for votes" and adopt a "fearless and clear-cut program," or face a third party movement. Mr. Knight also is regarded as a potential gubernatorial candidate two years hence.

His letter to Mr. Ross, written in response to a series of questions regarding issues of the 1924 campaign, assails both the old parties, but pays particular attention to the evils he sees in his own organization. He declares:

"There are no longer any real differences between the two parties. They are both in the last throes of dry rot. Neither is actuated by principle, but wholly by expediency. The consideration uppermost is not to do great, constructive things, but to concentrate on unessentials that will appeal to groups and interests strongly enough to secure their votes.

SINK TO COWARDICE.

"In action, one is uncertain whether it is one animal making two motions or two animals making one motion . . . both have sunk to the deepest abyss of cowardice, and since nothing can be expected from either of them, the people are not greatly concerned which one wins.

"In 1920 the Republican Party stood for something, and it was elected by an unprecedented majority. Yet once in power, we have not widely departed from the policies that we condemned, and I am not sure that we are not now proposing to enter the League of Nations through the cellar door."

OPPOSES THIRD PARTY.

Mr. Knight believes the time is not yet ripe for a third party, because "the people have not yet suffered enough to stir them to concerted action. But he is confident any betrayal of the people by the Republicans on the League of Nations will supply the spark that will set off the conflagration. He says if the Republicans "surrender on that count, or even try to compromise with it," a revolt will come.

There will be no issues in the 1924 campaign the Ohio Progressive contends. "The Republican party will point with pride to what it will say it has done and view with alarm what it says the Democrats might have done. The Democrats will simply reverse it and do the same thing."

But the best thing for the Republican Party to do, the former Congressman advises, is to "declare our intention of staying out of all foreign entanglements and attend to our own business."

ITALIANS APPEAR IN 'MADAME X'

Mimi Aguglia, temporary star of the Boston Italian Dramatic Company, played the title role yesterday afternoon in "Madame X," by Bisson, and through her interpretation of the part made the entire production of outstanding interest even to one who does not understand Italian.

Lheint was played by Gaetano D'Amato, and Raimondo by Tommaso Nazzaro, and each was exceedingly good in the role. Especially did D'Amato make his characterization a strong one, outlining unforgettably by inflection of voice and strong emotional demands of the character.

Laroque was played by Vincenzo Ferrau, whose work was good, but nothing unusual.

The company, as a whole, is laboring under many difficulties, but to their credit; these things are being overcome rapidly.

The players are sincere in their individual and concerted efforts to give to the public of Boston, with particular reference to the Italian public, something that is distinctly worthwhile in the way of dramatic entertainment and they are doing it.

CARRIER PIGEON OWNER SOUGHT

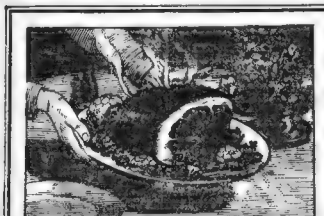

Carrier pigeon A. J. 31 WAK3 was caught by O. P. Lovegren, No. 38 Gilbert street, Watertown. Mr. Lovegren is holding the pigeon pending efforts to identify it and to establish communication with the owner. The pigeon carried no message other than the light aluminum identification band on its leg.

COKE CAR LOOTED, RAILROAD CHARGES

Westfield, April 20.—A number of Westfield residents have been summoned into court on charges made by the New Haven Railroad. The New Haven alleges that a large part of a car load of coke, left standing on the tracks, disappeared. No one knows how it happened but the railroad says the coke is in the cellars of the various residents summoned.

What Makes Ferris Flavor?

"Why", people ask — "why do Ferris Hams always roast to such an appetizing golden brown?" "Why is the meat always so tender and pink?" "How do you get that tantalizing combination of flavors?"

No wonder they ask, for Ferris Hams are the result of the Ferris "Ten Factors of Flavor", discovered over 60 years ago.

For over half a century those old-fashioned "Ten Factors" have never changed. When perfection is reached nothing can be added; nothing can be removed without impairing the final result.

ACCUSES RICH CLUBMAN AS LOVE PIRATE IN $500,000 SUIT

LOST WIFE AS RESULT HE SAYS

McConihe, New York Lawyer, Defendant in Action Brought by Jorrin, Wealthy Cuban

New York, April 20.—Warren McConihe, wealthy lawyer and clubman at No. 399 Park avenue, with luxurious offices at No. 522 Fifth avenue, today is named as defendant in a $500,000 alienation suit.

The plaintiff [illegible] Gabriel De Forzano [illegible], a Cuban planter and investor, well known in New York [illegible]. He alleges that McConihe [illegible] between him and his beautiful [illegible] wife, who, until her marriage at Newport, R. I., in 191[illegible], was the vivacious Virginia Lee Foster of St. Louis. Mrs. Jorrin is in Paris and her husband is at his home in Havana.

The complaint, which is brief, alleges that Jorrin and his wife lived happily together until 1919, when McConihe [illegible] into their lives. Between March and May of that year the complaint sets forth, McConihe caused the estrangement of the plaintiff and his wife.

The action was characterized by McConihe as a retaliatory step taken by the Jorrins who, he said, were piqued because he had sued and obtained a $50,000 judgment against them in the local courts for money loaned and used to further their designs for a social conquest in this city.

"The minute either of them come to the United States to prosecute the case I will have them locked up," he said.

Jorrin claimed to be a lineal descendant of Spanish royalty. His marriage to Miss Foster was one of the most brilliant events of the 1915 season at Newport. McConihe, who is connected with the Goelet and Warren families, has long been a society favorite. His wife secretly procured a divorce in 1921 and shortly married Barrett Andrews.

Beauty Is Chosen by Valentino

MISS DORIS COLBOURNE

This Winthrop girl, who lives at No. 92 Terrace avenue, was selected out of forty-three contestants in the Mineralava beauty contest at the Boston Arena as the most beautiful girl in New England. She thereby wins a trip to New York with all expenses paid, and will have an opportunity to compete with beauties from thirty-five other cities for choice as Rodolph Valentino's leading lady.

In the presence of 8,000 persons who thronged the Boston Arena, Miss Doris Colburne of No. 92 Terrace avenue, Winthrop, was picked out of forty-thrree contestants as the most beautiful girl in New England by Rodolph Valentino and his wife, Winifred Hudnut, at the Mineralava Beauty contest.

Miss Colbourne, with beaming countenance, received from the hands of Valentino himself the coveted prize of the "Valentino dolls" offered to the winner of the contest.

FREE TRIP TO NEW YORK.

The Winthrop girl was also announced as the winner of the free trip to New York, where she will contest with beauties from thirty-five other States for the honor of becoming leading lady for the noted film star.

Closely competing with Miss Colbourne for honors were two other Boston beauties, Miss Marie Martin, titian haired, of No. 134 Huntington avenue, and Miss Ruth Johanson, a striking blonde, of No. 175 Woodrow avenue, Dorchester.

New England's beauty winner has fluffy brown hair, deep blue eyes and radiant color. She is tall gracefully slender and twenty years old.

HERO OF HER DREAMS.

"Valentino has always been the hero of my dreams. Now I have an opportunity to be the heroine of his pictures. It seems too wonderful to be true," said Miss Colbourne.

"I have longed so many times for an opportunity in the movies.

"I will be so proud to represent Boston in the New York beauty contest. I never dreamed of such a thing."

Valentino gave an exhibition of the Argentine tango with his wife, Winifred Hudnut, and was greeted with great enthusiasm.

FREE "WILD" WOMAN WHO KILLED CHILD

Elmira, N. Y., April 20.—Primitive conditions of living were brought to light today through the Grand Jury's report in the case of Mrs. Elsie Miller, charged with having chloroformed to death her six-year old daughter, Cora, in their home at Miller's Hollow. No indictment was found.

Born and reared in a shack and married when a girl to a man thrice her age, the mother has led a life of semi wildness.

Herself the mother of six Mrs. Miller declared simply that she "put Cora to sleep" because she could not bear to have her grow up to face the terrors of motherhood.

BADLY BURNED IN GARAGE EXPLOSION

James Hood of No. 16 Union Park, was blown several feet by an explosion of gas fumes today, when he tried to light a gas stove in the garage where he was employed at No. 40 Trumbull street. He managed to crawl to the street ahead of the blaze started by the explosion and was sent to the City Hospital with face and shoulders burned. Fire was extinguished with a damage of $3,000.

NAVAL STATION WAGE CUT LAID TO ROOSEVELT

By CHARLES O. POWER.

Newport, R. I., April 20.—Workmen who are on strike at the Government Naval Torpedo Station, and there are more than 800 of them, blame young Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, to a large extent for the cut in wages that has been ordered by the department.

They are going to appeal to President Harding and Secretary Denby against the methods employed by the local wage board in securing data and will protest that the cut is not warranted by the facts in the board's possession or that should be in its possession.

Theodore Roosevelt

The attitude of the Assistant Secretary to their representatives they say has been flippant and showing more of personal conceit than official interest in the case. The mechanics at the torpedo station realize fully the seriousness of striking on government work, but say the situation has come to such a pass that they despair of receiving justice with Roosevelt holding the reins of power.

GOMPERS CALLED.

Not alone at the Newport station are the employes objecting to the decrees and the conduct of Roosevelt, but it is said there are reports from other places which indicate that his actions may result in a widened breach between the administration and organized labor all over the country.

Samuel Gompers

President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor will be requested to take the case of Newport workers to Secretary Denby over the head of Roosevelt and if no satisfaction is gained from the Secretary to go higher and submit to President Harding facts in proof of the injustice that is being done.

Here are some of the absurdities of the decision of the Navy Wage Board.

SHOW INCONSISTENCIES.

In the Boston Navy Yard machinists will receive 71 cents an hour, and pipe fitters 98 cents an hour. In the Newport Navy Yard riggers will receive 67 cents an hour, a reduction of six cents, while in Boston they will receive 92 cents, an increase of 19 cents.

Painters will receive an increase of 12 cents an hour in Newport, while in Boston they will receive nine. Bricklayers at Newport Naval Station will receive $6.24 a day under the new ruling, while in outside employment here they are being paid twice as much. Machinists in private employment are drawing 90 cents an hour, and the Navy Department wage board is willing to pay only 71 cents, which young Roosevelt is said to have remarked settled it, and to have added that "It is not a Rooseveltian trait to change a Roosevelt decision."

HIGHER PAY OUTSIDE.

In their hunt for data on the prevailing wage in private industries similar to the torpedo station and somewhat related in character signed statements were received by the workmen's committee from 142 concerns located in cities and towns between Boston and New York.

The expert analysis figures secured show that the torpedo station employes should be paid a general average of 93.5 cents an hour as against 71 which the Navy Department says is all they shall be paid.

Women's Stockings To Be Shortened Three Inches

New York, April 20.—Three inches will probably be lopped off of the top of women's silk stockings, as the result of a convention of the National Association of Hosiery and Underwear Manufacturers. There is a waste of silk in women's stockings with a 30-inch leg, it was decided, when it was discovered from the records of insurance companies that the average height for women is 5 feet 4½ inches, and that 27 ines is ample stocking length for the average woman.

COST $100 IN U. S., JUMP TO $247

Ottawa, April 20.—Goods bought in the United States for $100 and imported to Canada by a wholesaler under 35 per cent duty, cost the Canadian consumer $247.20 after they have passed through profit pyramiding, Isaac E. Pedlow, retail merchant of Renfrew told the special agricultural committee of the House today.

The pyramiding was even greater he declared, in the case of goods imported by a wholesaler, who sold to a manufacturer, and from him to wholesaler, retailer and consumer. The cost of the same $100 worth reached $332.55, he said, without allowance for the cost of manufacture.

HAMMOND HITS BIG EMPLOYERS' LABOR PLANS

Cosmopolitan News Service

New York, April 20.—A million workers too few may hamper industry a while, but will keep the nation prosperous in the long run.

A million workers too many—and a period of prosperity is bound to end in depression, perhaps a panic and a lowering of the American standards of living.

That, said John Hays Hammond, chairman of the United States Coal Commission today, is why he is opposed to any policy of unrestricted immigration.

"The big corporations may seek to recruit a cheaper labor supply by letting the tides of immigrants into this country," he said. "But in the long run they will have to pay for it. It simply lowers the standards the American worker has achieved and makes for the terrible periods of unemployment."

The present system is entirely unsatisfactory, Mr. Hammond pointed out. His recommendations are these:

1.—Establish Ellis Islands abroad—not at the gates of America.

2. Make the percentage of immigrants allowed into America yearly dependent upon the number of their nationals previously here who have become American citizens.

3.—Increase the total permitted entry of those coming here if they are willing to go where labor is scarce—instead of still further overcrowding industrial centres—or being excluded.

"If the immigrants could be distributed under a proper system, instead of being allowed to clog up already overfilled centres," he continued, "more immigration could be permitted without danger. One mine company needs 3,000 men, another 7,000 at present, and can't get them. But to get the best material from Europe I think immigrants from those countries should be permitted first from which America has obtained the largest number of naturalized citizens."

LINER HAS TERRIFIC BATTLE WITH STORMS

Brixham, England, April 20.—Terrific gales were reported over the North Atlantic by the American steamship Satsuma, which is in port here today en route from New York to Riga. Sails were carried away, lifeboats smashed and the steering gear broken four times by storms through which the Satsuma passed. The chief officer and four members of the crew were injured.

$135 HOLDUP OF FALL RIVER MAN ON BRIDGE

Two armed men held up John Tremoly of Fall River as he was passing over Warren Bridge, near North Station, and robbed him of $135.

While one pointed a revolver at Tremoly, the other searched his pockets. They then disappeared in the direction of Charlestown after warning their victim to refrain from making an outcry.

Tremoly gave the police of Hanover street station a description of the robbers. One, he said, was about thirty years old, five feet ten inches tall, weighed 165 pounds, was of light complexion and light hair. The other was about forty years old, five feet seven inches tall, weighed 140 pounds, and was dark complexioned. Both were attired in dark clothes.

CLOTHING MAKERS GET WAR PAY SCALE

Rochester, N. Y., April 20.—The shops of Michaels, Stern & Co., and of Keller Rahmann Thompson, two large concerns, have announced a wage scale which will restore wages to the highest scale reached during the war.

GIRL SEIZED AS QUEEN OF AUTO BANDITS

[illegible], April 20.—Mrs. [illegible] O'Connor, twenty-three, [illegible] dancer when [illegible], was arrested here as the "Queen" and directing brains of a gang of motor bandits, one of the many that are terrorizing this city.

An automatic pistol in a garter holster and a dozen or more pieces of men's jewelry were found in her possession.

The woman was arrested with her husband, Harry, as they were getting out of a big motor car. The driver and two other men escaped after trying to run down Furber and two motorcycle policemen, who made the arrest.

The police are sure that they have a much wanted man in O'Connor. They say his right name is Harry Furbin, that he is a member of a gang implicated in several shootings lately.

O'Connor's pretty wife is suspected by the police to be a "Come-on" to find out what cafe patrons have plenty of money. The woman wore an expensive sealskin coat and many rings. Her hair is bobbed. She refused to tell the police anything about herself or her companions, except that she had been married two years and came from New York.

DE MAR HAS HEART SET ON ANOTHER MARATHON VICTORY

THREE-TIME WINNER AFTER OLYMPIC HONOR

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Clarence De Mar, thirty-five-year-old Melrose printer, and three-time winner of the American Marathon, has his heart set on still another victory in that long distance classic.

Next year, according to his own announcement, De Mar will again report to the Ashland starting mark, and again will seek to lead the procession across the finish line at the B. A. A. clubhouse on Exeter street.

Influencing his determination is a still greater Marathon ambition—that of winning the Olympic Marathon in Paris one year from next August.

It has been the custom of the American Olympic Committee to select America's Olympic representatives on their work in athletic competition immediately prior to the Olympic games, and it is certain that the men who finish one-two in next year's Ashland-to-Boston race will make the voyage to Paris.

De Mar's prospective success next year would find him making an Olympic team for the second time in his long and brilliant career. In 1912, De Mar was selected for the American team that competed in the Stockholm Olympiads. Conditions in Sweden and the manner in which the long distance runners were handled prevented the Melrose star from performing at his best and he is most anxious for another whirl against the leading marathoners of other lands.

Lost Only Three and One-Half Pounds on Run

Fifteen minutes after De Mar had crossed the finish line in the holiday race, he showed no effects of the long, punishing trip. The scales informed him he had lost three and one-half pounds in the course of the journey, but he was laughing and joking and preparing for a quiet celebration of his victory with members of his Boy Scout troop. It was Sunday school class the moment he changed from running togs to street clothes.

The only sore spot in his anatomy was the heel of his left foot. That pain developed from an accident en route which might have resulted disastrously, but happily did not. It occurred before the race was half completed.

De Mar had just passed Michelson for the second time and as the last named had been a real threat to the champion throughout the major portion of the race, De Mar put on a spurt intending to leave him as far in the rear as possible.

Just as he got going, however, a wild flivver driver crashed into Robert Campbell, the bicycle rider Campbell De Mar, driving Campbell and his wheel against the runner. The bicycle tire caught the heel of De Mar's left shoe and pulled it free. The leather folded under De Mar's heel, on the next stride and it was with his shoe half on and half off that the Melrose gamester completed the race.

The collision only temporarily hindered De Mar, while Campbell after picking himself from the street and straightening the twisted handle bars of his wheel, soon caught up with the runner and continued with him throughout the remainder of the race.

Campbell, by the way, is foreman in the printing shop where De Mar is employed, and was the same attendant who piloted him to victory last year.

Zuna Blames Failure on Slow Pace He Set at Start

Frank Zuna, the Newark plumber and winner of the 1923 race, whom many figured would capture the holiday classic, blames his failure to do so upon the slow pace he set himself during the early portion of the race.

Zuna held to fifth or sixth position through the bulk of the distance, feeling reasonably sure that those who preceded him were setting too fast a pace to continue to the finish.

His estimate proved correct with one exception, for as the last few miles were run Zuna unloosed a spurt that carried him into fifth place, then fourth, then third, then second, and he had overcome more than 500 yards of the 1000 yard lead De Mar had boasted before the Melrose boy reached the finish line.

Although Vincent Stronach did not succeed in winning a prize he did break one long-standing marathon record. Vincent's new record was a lost-weight record, for when he finally bows into the B. A. A. club house and stepped upon the scales he found he had lost full twelve pounds through his three hours of exertion.

50 FREE TICKETS FOR SOX OPENING STILL LEFT

There are still nearly fifty tickets to the Red Sox opening to be given to winners in the Bonehead Contest.

If you weren't among the fortunate 150 who won tickets to the Braves opening, try to win a ticket for the Red Sox. A ticket is awarded to every person whose name is printed as a winner in this column.

Today's winner:

GEORGE SCHNITZLER, No. 114 Shurtleff street, Chelsea.

"An elderly lady entered the office of a leading magazine and demanded to see the editor. When she got an audience she denounced him for not having received her copies of the magazine. He asked her for particulars, and she told how she had subscribed for the magazine, pinned a dollar bill to a postcard and dropped it in the letter box."

PIKE CUSHING, Dorchester Lower Mills, Mass.

"A barber that once worked for me breaks both sides of the record. A customer, being informed that a shave cost twenty cents, said he had only a dime and wanted to know whether the barber would shave one side of his face for the ten cents. The barber agreed. The customer then said 'All right, shave the other side of my face.' The barber had to go through with it."

LESTER DALY, c/o 146 Medford street, Arlington.

"There's a dumbbell in our neighborhood who takes everything he hears literally. He overheard a conversation the other day in which one of the men said there was money in potatoes. He promptly went out, bought several bushels of potatoes, and spent the entire day sorting them apart. He didn't find a potato in a single spud and was bitterly disappointed."

Other winners, whose contributions are omitted because of lack of space, are:

JAMES CULLIN, No. 19 Myrtle street, Boston.

COLBY BEATS MAINE IN OPENING BATTLE

Waterville, Me., April 20.— Colby defeated the University of Maine, 6 to 3. Colby took the lead in the first inning, after Odom had dropped one of three Maine men in a row. Thompson passed Lampher and Peaslee hit through short. Shattuck and Peaslee hit safely, driving in one run each.

TUFTS LOSES TO NEW YORK, 9 TO 6

New York, April 20.—New York University defeated Tufts, 9 to 6. Roach and White were the Tufts batters to hit homers, while Torpe, Carlson, Stanley and Toorock poled home runs for the Violet. It was New York University's sixth consecutive victory.

EAGLE MAKES A MEAL OF THE TERRIER

Boston College also won a marathon at Alumni Field when the Eagle ball team ran around the bases for seventeen runs against two lone tallies of Boston University. Four B. U. pitchers were slammed for twenty-one hits, while Steve Fallon held the visitors to seven.

Chesson and Small poled out a four-bagger apiece in the seventh inning, saving B. U. from a shutout and incidentally making the score exactly the same as last year when B. C. won by fifteen runs.

Burke, a southpaw, started the game against Boston College. After he was nicked for five hits in one and a third innings, Small was sent in to relieve him. Small lasted two and two-thirds innings and after the Eagles had socked him for seven hits, Donahue came to the rescue. Donahue lasted until the sixth, and finally Cochrane stepped into the box and finished the game.

The B. U. lineup was continually changed in an attempt to stop the terrific batting drive of the Eagles.

Boston College will play Vermont at Alumni Field on Saturday afternoon.

Carp' Asks $75,000 for Bout With McTigue

By Universal Service.

Paris, April 20.—Manager Descamps, for Georges S. Carpentier, said he will cable Tex Rickard, in response to a message from the promoters, that Georges is willing to fight Mike McTigue on a basis of 75 per cent. of the gate receipts and a guarantee of $75,000.

Rickard had cabled asking what terms would be acceptable.

McTigue gained the world's lightweight title by beating Battling Siki, Carpentier's conqueror, in Dublin, on St. Patrick's Day.

STASIAK BEATS HINDU RAJAH ON MAT

Stanley Stasiak defeated Baba Gobar in one fall in the main bout of the wrestling show at the Grand Opera House last night under the Howard Theatre management. Gobar was injured when the Pole obtained the fall which decided the contest; so badly that he could not continue. The left arm was dislocated so severely that it will be some time ere the Hindu prince will be able to resume work on the mat.

Gobar himself was unlucky, for on a rush he gave Stasiak an opening to apply the double arm lock and as he rolled over to extricate himself from the dangerous position, the Hindu's left arm jumped out of the socket.

Hambone Kelly to Take on Frank Powers

Hambone Kelly, South Boston kayo king, will venture forth to action with Frank Powers, formerly Biff Clancey, as an opponent in the semi-final of eight rounds. Powers is a rough, tough fellow and should make things interesting for Johnny McGrath's puncher.

There will be two more fights before Allen of Hyde Park will oppose Neddo Flanagan of Malden, while Rockey Smith of New York, who stopped Mike Paulson, will clash with Jack Thomas, Canadian champion.

Ivey Lewis Arranges Another Good Bout

Apparently Ivey Lewis of the Armory A. A. thrives on hard work as he has been putting on some bang-up attractions since he assumed the duties of matchmaker along with his job as treasurer.

The signing of Kid Norfolk and Battling McCreary for a bout for the world's colored light heavyweight championship at the Grand Opera House on next Tuesday night should make a hit with the fans. It will be a regular fight, which is just what the fans want.

Commercial A. C. Will Develop New Talent.

The re-opening of the Commercial A. C. at its old quarters in Bowdoin Square will result in the development of some local talent. The Armory A. A. bouts at the Grand Opera House have helped things along a great deal. Now Colonel Bob McHardy will assist in the good work.

There is a regiment of young boxers in Greater Boston who are anxious for an opportunity to show their wares. They will now be able to do so.

The Commercial Club, as usual, will specialize in action shows. The fancy stallers will be given the air. Which is as it should be.

BRITTON SAYS PADGETT IS TITLE CONTENDER

By JACK CONWAY.

Jack Britton, former world's welterweight champion and one of the greatest boxers in the history of the ring, seldom has anything to say about the ability of another ring man. Therefore, he is entitled to more than passing consideration when he makes a few remarks about Cowboy Padgett, Kansas City welterweight, who mingles with Dave Shade in the feature ten-round bout at the Arena A. C.'s show at the Boston Arena on Monday evening.

"Padgett," says Britton, "is one of the few welterweights who would have a chance of defeating Mickey Walker. This is because he is a two-handed fighter. He is as aggressive as Mickey, while he punches harder. I know whereof I speak, as I have battled both men.

"It will be difficult for a clever boxer to win over Walker. All Mickey has to do is to score one solid smash in turn the tide of battle in his favor. A fighter like Padgett does not worry about a single sock. I hit him with everything I had when we met and he still kept boring in. They tell me that the cowboy has improved greatly since then."

Cowboy Padgett

Padgett was due to arrive in Boston today. He will complete training for the tussle at one of the local gyms.

Shade has been doing his training in New York and will be in his usual good condition when he hops into the ring. Shade would have preferred battling George Ward to Padgett as he does not figure he would have so much trouble with the New Jersey warrior. But as Ward would not agree to terms for the match, Shade was obliged to meet Padgett or remain idle.

WALKER GIVES FIVE POUNDS AND WINS

Worcester, April 20.—Archie Walker, of Brooklyn, beat Bobby Michaels of New York in the feature bout at the Casino. He took eight of the ten rounds, Michaels weighed five pounds more than the Brooklyn boy, who was much cleverer.

Willie Nelson of Brockton lost to "Boonie" White of Worcester, in the semi-final through the Worcester boy's superior hitting ability and speed.

Young Conti of Providence outpointed Tommy Harrington of Worcester in their six-round fight, which at times had the fans on their feet, and Henri Allaire of Worcester beat Frankie Frisoni of Lynn, in six rounds.

HARMON HANDS OUT BEATING TO CARNEY

New Bedford, April 20.—Willie Harmon, of Boston, handed Billy Carney, the local welter, a sound drubbing in the main bout at the Union A. A. all-star show.

Ruby Levine of Lewiston battered Al Perry of this city so severely that the referee halted the bout in the eighth and gave the verdict to the Maine boy.

Harry Mitchell, of Providence, quit in the eighth round of his bout with Tommy Flanagan of this city, and claimed an injury to his left knee. Mitchell was on the receiving end practically all the way.

GIANTS IN FINAL GAME WITH BRAVES TODAY; QUAKERS NEXT

MITCHMEN OUT TO WIN FAREWELL OF SERIES

By NICK FLATLEY

...holiday in the cellar had some great appeal for our Braves for they casually tossed off a couple of ball games to the champion Giants, and disappointed the greatest throng that has invaded the Wigwam for a couple of years ...

... took a pair of ... both 4 to ... and ... out ... they could ... of won ... both.

There was ... through the general gloom, for the Tribe ... of fight and class and impressed the assembled fish with the notion that once they get to kicking in together a lot of things will happen to hostile ball clubs.

Walloping Willyum Bagwell continued to smatter the best curves and things the Giant pitchers could unfold, and has battered his way into ... now every time he steps up to the saucer. Which is quite a performance for a young man, fresh and inexperienced, from the frowsy bushes of Kansas.

W... came into the morning joust as a pinch hitter in the ninth, and ... a single into centre. The rally didn't materialize, but that wasn't Will's fault at all. He brought the old green bat back in the P. M. and hit several baseballs right on the forehead.

One Lusty Clout Almost Carried Into the Bleachers.

One lusty crash almost carried ... o the right field bleachers, where very few ... have been planted. It resulted in a double play at the plate, as the two runners who were aboard waited too long before they decided that nobody in the world, not even Ross Young could get out that far and catch anything.

It ... too, that Will hits just as ... with the bases populated as he does with nobody there. A very comfortable habit in a batter.

Later in the pastime Will stung a whistler toward first with the winning run parked on third, but the agate went right at tall George Kelly, and nearly separated ... from his mitten. But he managed to cling to it, and you could hardly blame our William for that, either.

Gus Felix Went Into Left and Did Quite a Job.

Speaking of Willyum ... that Gus Felix went into left for ... when Southpaw Nehf perched on the peak in the ... and ... quite a job himself. He ... rattling hit and ... viciously, but Art Nehf managed to get his glove up and ... the marble to Frisch and a double play followed instead of a victory, which the whack was tagged.

Gus also galloped away over to the left field bleacher wall and hauled down a long foul for the most sensational episode of the before lunch proceedings. So you can see that our two new outfielders have done very well for a starter.

They have hit far better in a few days than most promising ... do in their first season, and they're likely to become really dangerous, once they get their eyes on the ball. They have the outfielders backing up already.

Young Larry Benton also comes in for a flock of praise in the somewhat dolorous task of recapitulating the dual disaster. This youth galloped from obscurity by pitching eight very snappy innings of the initial defeat.

Jocko Conlon Played Dandy Ball and Hit Hard.

Jocko Conlon played dandy ball around second and hit the apple hard. He never has gone after a bad one, and clutters the plate all up. He's a hard bird to pitch to, and doesn't seem to mind the large league brand of hurling any more than he did the college kind. He is rapidly organizing a large society of boosters.

And then, of course, there was the crowd. More than 25,000 stormed the clicking gates in the afternoon, and when a team can attract that many citizens, after losing three straight for a starter, it's naturally got to be called popular.

The Giants depart after playing today, so then perhaps the Mitchmen will start picking up. McGraw has a grand ball club, and it was no part of luck for the Braves to draw them for five games right off the mark. But after that nothing will look so tough.

The Braves, though beaten gave the gang a good run for the money and it's a cinch to foresee some really big gatherings as soon as the boys get the winning habit.

CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY BEAT HARVARD, 13-7

Washington, D. C., April 20.—Catholic University defeated Harvard 13 to 7. The local team put the game on ice in the first inning when they scored eight runs and after that Harvard did not have a chance.

Harvard scored in the first on Gordon's three-bagger and a passed ball. Added three in the fourth on four walks. Jenkins' single, Hammond's three-bagger and Doherty's single added another in the sixth. The final score came in the last inning on Jenkins' single and Owen's terrific home run.

Harvard used three pitchers; K. Hill was chased in the first and Rodgers fared little better, but Cordingly proved to be the best of the lot.

Dempsey Will Box Tom Gibbons on July 4

By Universal Service.

New York, April 20.—Jack Dempsey will defend his title against Tom Gibbons on July 4 at Shelby, Mont.

This information was obtained from sources of such authority and reliability as to leave no doubt about the question.

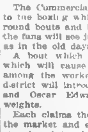

Most of the arrangements for the battle, it is understood, will be completed next week, when Jack Kearns, meets Mike Collins, who will represent the Montana promoters.

This meeting will take place in Chicago when Kearns comes from Los Angeles.

While no information as to exact terms has been forthcoming, it is understood Kearns held out for $300,000 for Dempsey's services.

AMATEUR RING KINGS TO BOX AS PROS

Two amateur champions will desert the simon pure ranks at the reopening of the Commercial Club, Bowdoin square, Friday night, April 27.

Mickey Landers.

Terry McM...us, national 135-pound champion and Mickey Landers, New England 135-pound champion will join the ranks of ... and make their ... as professionals when the old "Home of Action" breaks back into the spotlight.

The followers of these two amateur stars will turn out en masse to witness their debut in pro ranks. Landers has been booked to swap wallops with Buff Ivers of East Boston, while an opponent has yet to be selected for McManus.

The Commercial Club will return to the boxing whirl with five eight round bouts and it is expected that the fans will see just as much action as in the old days.

A bout which was tied up and which will cause great enthusiasm among the workers of the market district will introduce Jack Keating and Oscar Edwards, two heavyweights.

Each claims the championship of the market and each has vision of stepping into the shoes of Jerry Gaines, former market champion. When these boys get into the ring, their friends will be swarmed around the ring to cheer them on.

Jimmy Manning of South Boston and Doddy O'Neil of Nashua, N. H., who fought a sensational eight round bout here a couple of weeks ago, will renew hostilities. Manning won the recent decision and O'Neil is out to turn the tables.

Tommy Marks of the North End will return to the ring with Mike O'Dowd of Roxbury. These little fellows always provide keen action and the fans will not miss the chance of seeing them perform.

Fight Results

At New Bedford—Willie Harman defeated Billy Carney, 10 rounds.

At Lowell—Johnny Avila defeated Martin Flaherty, 10 rounds.

At Providence—Young Montreal defeated Midget Smith, 12 rounds.

At Lawrence—Lew Paluso stopped "Newport" Johnny Brown, ninth round.

BAT McCREARY TO TACKLE NORFOLK

Battling McCreary of this city, who walloped his way into the Hall of Fame when he bested George Robinson the other night, will receive an opportunity to win a world's championship when he clashes with Kid Norfolk, colored light-heavyweight champion, in the ... bout of ... rounds at the Armory A. A.'s show at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday night.

Kid Norfolk

McCreary has been showing ... style and is ... set to parade ... the Hall of Champions. ... attracted attention a couple of years ago when as a kid fighter, he gave Harry Wills a torrid session.

Since then McCreary has improved a great deal and today ranks with the world's leading colored light heavyweights. He didn't experience much trouble in bowling over Jack Taylor, Tom O'Rourke's much-touted protege. Then followed his win with Robinson.

Norfolk, of course, will give McCreary a ring test. The champion is a master boxer and terrific puncher. This mill should furnish an abundance of action.

Frankie Ryan of Everett, who has been winning steadily, will try to dispose of Harry Foley, North End southpaw, in the semi final of ten rounds.

... who ... to Robb... will try ... even the score while Al Lewis of the South End will attempt to avenge the kayo he suffered at the hands of Jimmy Smith of Brockton. Lewis was winning up to the eighth frame when Smith slipped over the big slam.

Whittalls Beat Rangers

Worcester April 20.—The Whittall team defeated the Worcester Rangers in a hard fought soccer game, 2 to 0, at the Sutton Lane grounds.

Manager Harris of Whittall has arranged to have the American Optical soccer team play here tomorrow.

Somerville Boys Anxious to Make Record as New Club in Busy League

The George Dilboy Post V. F. W. baseball team, of Somerville, latest addition to the Greater Boston Twilight League, gives ever indication of holding its own with any of the older members of the circuit. Manager Wallie Wright has booked Ernie R..., star twirler from Houlton, Maine, to share the bulk of the work with "Hap" Herlihy, last season's pitching ace.

Connie O'Doherty, of Woburn, will cavort around the keystone sack, with Jerry Murphy, former Harvard star, behind the bat. "Jocko" Halligan, of B. C., will cover first; Al Sharalai of W...town at short. Harold Leland, Somerville High and Tufts star, will cover right field. Gene Driscoll, commander of the local post, has been elected business manager.

VERMONT WINNER OVER YALE, 4 TO 3

New Haven, April 20. — Vermont defeated Yale, 4 to 3.

The Blue started well, when Charley O'Hearn reached second on an error and scored when Widdy Neale placed a double in right centre, the only extra base hit of the afternoon.

Flashes of wildness by Don Ross, a couple of singles and some poor fielding in the Blue infield gave Vermont a run in the second, one in the third and another in the sixth.

In the seventh, with two out and the bases full, O'Hearn hit into short centre and two runs scored.

Vermont got back strong in the eighth. Hartnett hit Ready, who stole second, went to third on Conlin's single and scored on Chevalier's sacrifice.

YANKEES GAMES RICH HARVEST FOR RED SOX

New York, April 20.—The Red Sox will not be a jinx for the Yankees this year. At least, they did not start out that way. Last ... the Red Sox ... the harpoon into the Yanks in the Spring, and kept it up for the entire campaign. New York won the American League ... last year, but they won only ... out of ... from the ... Red Sox.

... of the pitchers who made trouble for ... Yanks last season tried his ... in the second game ... did not get by so well. Fergy went well enough until the sixth. In the fourth inning New York scored a rather tainted run, when Ruth got home on muffed throws by Burns and Devormer.

Fergy ... around ... in the sixth, when the Yanks had one of their old-fashioned ... and scored seven runs. However with better support, Ferguson could have ... inning with one run, for he got the last man out and by that time seven runs were in.

Ruth Ran Amuck and Got a Triple and a Single.

One former star hurler of the Red Sox staff, Bullet Joe Bush faced three former Yankee second stringers, Ferguson, Marris and O'Doul, and Joe ... to worry ... runs ... That was something to ... again.

The Yankee ... with their ... Shawkey ... only ... and the Sox got six ... off Bush. Four of them came in the last three rounds, when Joe felt he didn't have to bear down so hard.

Ruth ... a triple and a single and walked twice. After flying out in his first time up on Wednesday Ruth got on bases for the next seven times in succession. O'Doul finally stopped him in the eighth, when he tossed his grounder to first.

Quite a Reaction in Crowd for Attendance Went to 10,000.

"Bad Bill" Piercey, another former second-stringer of the Yanks, probably will get his chance to see what he can do today. No matter who Huggins pitches it is bound to be a former Red Sox, Hoyt, Jones, Mays or Pennock. But it probably will be Hoyt, the boy wonder from Brooklyn.

There was quite a reaction in the stadium attendance today, when the 74,000 crowd dwindled down to 10,000, but that was very good for the second day of the season, especially as the day was cool.

With another 10,000 crowd today and a 40,000 crowd on Sunday as expected, the four games should set all records for a four game series outside of a world's series with a total attendance of around 135,000.

Excluding passes, that will mean that the Boston club will be paid off on something like 120,000 paid admissions. As the visiting club takes ... cents for each admission. The Red Sox share will be about $40,000, enough to keep fuel in the stove for a while. The Red Sox got only $10,000 more than that for Tris Speaker ... seven years ago.

McMillan booted one out at second, and Collins muffed a line drive by Ward, even though it was scored as a hit for Ward. After that Scott and Bush poked Ferguson for teasing bingles, and Murray was called in to pitch. He walked two men and was ... for a single by P... be...

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

THE hold-up men are getting so bold lately that they go right up on your front porch after you.

ANY man can now get his skull cracked without leaving home.

A LOT of these thugs call themselves doctors. They specialize in curing pedestrians of insomnia.

A BURGLAR held up a song writer the other night, and as soon as the song writer regained consciousness he went home and composed a ballad entitled, "Put Me to Sleep With an Old-Fashioned Crow Bar."

BUT some stick-up men are very thoughtful. They never knock a victim over the head without wishing him pleasant dreams.

THE average thug hates to see you suffer, that's why most of them sneak up on you from behind.

A MAN will be walking along the street thinking about something when up steps a thug and knocks the ideas right out of his head.

AND some of them hit you so hard that they put a permanent wave in your hair.

THEY'RE very careless, they don't care whether you part it in the middle or on the side.

YOU can't expect a thug to heal the iron first so that he can curl you hair at the same time he hits you.

THEY'RE scalp experts, not hair dressers.

WHENEVER you get struck by a thug you're not going to wake up looking like you've just come out of a beauty parlor.

WHEN one of these fellows manages you six or seven times with a piece of lead pipe it isn't liable to help your complexion any.

BESIDES, revolvers are hard to get, but any man can borrow a piece of his kitchen sink.

ALL that a holdup man needs to start into business is a crowbar and a dark alley.

VERY few thugs are married. They're not going to take your money away from you and then have a wife to take it away from them when they get home.

THE best way to avoid thugs at night is to follow a policeman around, and whenever you encounter a holdup man run whichever way the cop goes.

BE AS YOUNG AS YOU FEEL.

Forget your age and be as young as you feel.

Because another man is afflicted with some ailment, because another has allowed himself to imagine he is about helpless, is that any reason for you to get into the same state?

What other men are at your age should not influence you unless in a way of making you feel younger and stronger and more light-hearted.

It is easy to grow old if you allow yourself to do so.

It is a struggle not to give up and give in to some of the little things which creep on incidental to increasing age.

But imagining you are worse than you are will not help you to overcome.

Why should you expect always to be able to do the many things you have done in your youth?

There is no reason in the fifties for you to give up and own yourself a "has-been," but there is no reason for you to imagine you can be as young as twenty-some. Do not make yourself ridiculous by trying it.

Forget to tell your ailments, relax, keep your heart young and interested in the things of today, not the doings of ten, twenty or thirty years ago.

"I see that our cousin has been making a fool of himself with some girl. I am glad you have better taste than to drag us into such undesirable prominence."

"Do not defend him," she interrupted. "This is plain enough. It gives all the ugly details of a most disgraceful affair. The girl seems to have used every means to draw money from him. I wonder why rich men with average intelligence—men from fine old families like yours—delight in such intrigues. FOXY GRANDPA STORY

BUNNY FINDS A TAILOR TO HELP BOBBY

COME here, Bobby, and show the children how beautifully that rip in your trousers is mended. And it wasn't done by human hands, either!

Who mended it? Let me tell you the story.

It was in Ceylon that Bunny discovered the tailor about whom I am going to tell you.

We were out in the country walking along the road. I always think it more interesting to walk than ride in a strange place.

You see so much more on foot than you do driving. So when we travel, Bobby, Bunny and I always walk when we reach a new place.

When [illegible] day we walked in Ceylon, we soon became tired and decided to sit down and rest out in the country and had to go back through the city to the hotel.

YOUR BEAUTY

A FINE SERIES OF PRACTICAL VALUE

CORRECT carriage of the neck is not only essential to its beauty, but to the loveliness and charm of a woman's general appearance.

Graceful neck posture, as I have emphasized in former chats, depends first of all upon right thinking. If you are thinking fearlessly and with firm good will, your neck will be as straight and free from rigidity as your thoughts are straightforward and conscientiously reliant upon the infinite intelligence that controls every good activity.

And if you persist in this right thinking you will find that your neck will express natural grace and that its very shape will improve. It will grow more symmetrical and will neither slump nor crane forward.

Here is a game you will enjoy. It will, if you play it every day, help to develop and make firm the flabby muscles of your neck and throat and will fill in every unsightly hollow. If your neck is too plump, the vigorous exercise will tend to reduce its size and produce symmetry.

This game is especially valuable because it helps to prevent the forming of an ugly line from the base of the ear to the neck [illegible] muscles.

First get a feather. Any small white feather such as those used to fill pillows will do nicely.

Now the object of the little game is to see how long you can keep this feather in the air by blowing it upward. Try to keep it from floating to the ground or settling anywhere even on a drapery high above your head.

To do this you will have to exercise all your neck as well as your back muscles, by blowing and you will keep your head thrown well back. This is all most enjoyable and refreshing and will help to accustom you to holding your neck straight.

Try this exercise at least five minutes each morning and night, provided you also watch your thinking and keep it at straight forward, correcting every deviation impulse you will be delighted to see how symmetrically beautiful your neck is becoming and how well you look in an evening frock and also in the pretty oval neckline that is so much in vogue just now.

Be sure when you take your hot baths to scrub your neck thoroughly and to include it in the alcohol rub that follows this bath.

Do not bundle your neck unnecessarily. It is silly and fatal to neck beauty. For instance, on a warm day to bundle one's neck tightly with suffocating furs. Leave your neck open to the fresh air or loosely covered, if covered at all, to insure free circulation.

You need not sacrifice your claim to beauty because of an unlovely neck, for if you are willing to exercise and care sensibly for it there is no reason why your neck should not become as lovely as you could wish.

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please tell me the proper way to fold a 22x22-inch napkin and where to place it when setting the table?

MRS. I.

A 22x22-inch napkin is a dinner size (dinner napkins ranging from twenty to twenty four inches across), and is therefore folded square and flat. The napkin is laid in each service or "place" plate.

Syrup Pepsin Loved By Hosts of Babies

Half a teaspoonful will make a fretful youngster happy and playful

THE mother has her choice of many remedies for her baby's minor ills, but she should be careful which remedy she selects lest she do the child harm. What might be safe for herself may do injury to an infant. You will find that if the little one cries and doesn't want to play that its bowels are constipated. First look carefully to the diet and give the child one-half teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You will then see results in a few hours. You will not have to force it on babies or children, they actually ask for it, it is so pleasant-tasting and free from griping.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. The ingredients are stated on the package. It is a mild, gentle vegetable laxative that everyone finds effective and pleasant. It is better for you and yours than purgatives, coal-tar drugs, or salt waters and powders, which may concentrate the blood and dry up the skin; or mercurial calomel, which may salivate and loosen the teeth.

Use a safe laxative like Syrup Pepsin, and especially for the children, for invalids, growing girls, nursing mothers, elderly people, and persons recently operated upon who need bowel action with the least strain. Mrs. Lillian Brenington of Woodruff, S. C., always gives her children Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and Mrs. A. E. Blondin of Muskegon, Mich., will not have any other laxative in her home. Your druggist will supply you, and it only costs a cent a dose. Try it in constipation, colic, biliousness, flatulency, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

Try This to Break Up Cold

Prescription Used 30 Years Prized Highly

MOST people don't know that a "cold" is very similar to a headache in origin. Each is caused by congestion or gorging of the blood vessels. In the case of a "cold," the linings of the nose and throat passages become inflamed and discharge poisons that make you feel sick all over.

You can break up a cold with one or two Orangeine powders compounded from a famous prescription. Ask for it by name—Orangeine. This treatment reduces the congestions and so the cold "goes." For more than 30 years druggists have been dispensing this prescription as a positive form of relief for Headache and various kinds of pain.

"TIZ" FOR TENDER, SORE, TIRED FEET

Ah! what [illegible] No more tired feet, no more burning feet, swollen, bad smelling, sweaty feet. No more pain in corns, callouses or bunions. No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "TIZ."

"TIZ" draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet; "TIZ" is magical; "TIZ" is grand; "TIZ" will cure your foot troubles so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never hurt or get sore, swollen or tired.

Get a box at any drug or department store, and get relief for a few cents.—Walter Luther Dodge Co., New York, N. Y.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Bisurated Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

BISURATED MAGNESIA

If you feel "out of sorts," sluggish and weary

If you feel "out of sorts," sluggish, weary and irritable; if you lack the spirit and sparkle and the ability to do your work with the same briskness and cheerfulness that you see in others, it is probably because your organs are not generating enough vital energy.

If your blood lacks the normal amount of the elements that are necessary in the production of vital energy, it is not possible for you to feel strong, industrious and sprightly; you are bound to tire quickly, feel downcast and find it difficult to take proper interest in your work or your favorite recreations.

If you are not feeling as "fit" as you would like to; if you are in need of reinvigoration, you should take Wincarnis for a week or so. You will probably be surprised and delighted at the promptness with which this general tonic and restorative will enrich your blood, strengthen your nervous system and relieve your feeling of general debility and exhaustion. Physicians are prescribing Wincarnis because of its great virtue as a tonic and reconstructive.

THE GO-GETTER A Film Romance from the Sparkling Story by PETER B. KYNE

A Gripping Serial of a Man's Pluck and Resourcefulness and the Faith of a Beautiful Girl

READ THIS FIRST

Bill Peck, one of Uncle Sam's soldiers, receives some bad wounds while fighting in the big war. He has to spend a long time in an army hospital, but finally he is discharged and joyfully he says good-bye to all the pals he is leaving. One of them, Sandy, who will never be able to leave, hates to lose Bill. A friend, Jack Evan, an aviator, comes to usher Bill out into the world again. Bill shows him cards he has had printed announcing himself as an employe of the Ricks Lumber Corporation. Jack laughs at the nerve of the go-getter. Bill throws a tramp overboard and saves a dog from being drowned for biting a woman. He gets a job with the Ricks Lumber Company.

"The Go-Getter," by Peter B. Kyne, has been created into a superlative photo play by Cosmopolitan Productions, direction E. H. Griffith, scenario by John Lynch.

Screen Version Novelized

By Jane McLean

BILL raised his hat as the car went past. Skinner touched his own. "Wonder why that fellow was bowing to me?"

"I wonder," said Mary.

"Only met him this afternoon; he came to ask for a job, and of all the nerve—insisted that he get it; of course I turned him down when I saw he'd been in the army"——

"Oh, Father!" cried Mary, "why?"

"Because they're no good, these ex-army men, that's why," growled Skinner.

"You weren't talking that way when the war was on," his daughter reminded him.

"I turned him down," said Skinner, "because I knew if he was any good he wouldn't stay turned down."

"And won't he?" asked Mary innocently.

"I'll tell you about that," laughed her father. "He went over my head and saw Cappy and landed the job, but I've got even with him, ha! ha!—I've made him look like thirty cents," and he laughed again and again.

"Then you like him after all—I hardly saw him just now," said Mary.

"Like him! I don't know anything about him except he's got nerve. You were talking about that skunk spruce we got stuck for. Well, I've given him that to sell. Every man in the office has fallen down on it, and I'm waiting to see his face when he reports."

"I'll bet he sells it," said Mary.

"What do you know about it?" asked her father.

Sporting Proposition

"Oh, nothing. I'm just making you a sporting proposition. Bet you double next month's allowance or nothing that he sells that spruce."

"You're on," said Skinner, "and remember, my girl, a bet's a bet—no welching."

"The idea!" said Mary indignantly.

By the time he reached home and had been regaled with a well-cooked dinner, Mr. Skinner became almost human, and when Cappy called later the two were as amiable as though there had never been a cross word between them.

"By the way, Cappy," said Skinner, "I've made a bet with Mary here that that ex-soldier of yours won't sell the spruce."

"Of course I'm not a betting man," said Cappy.

"And you never held a golf club in your life," said Skinner.

"And never smoked a cigar," added Mary.

Bill Peck, after thrashing an agitator with Bolshevik tendencies, warns him that he had better conceal his thoughts about the country.

"Well, letting all that pass," laughed Cappy, "I'd say that Mary had the better end of the bet."

"Naturally you'd say so," said her father, "but I'll make another bet with you, Cappy, that you don't think so."

"Never mind what I think, Skinner. I'll tell you that later."

Mr. Bill Peck returned to his room with pride of possession in his heart; in fact, a double pride of possession. He had two things he did not own when he left—one was a job and the other a dog. Of course the job was the more valuable, but the more he looked at the dog the less he could persuade himself to give him up.

"I guess you're a fixture," said Bill, patting the mongrel's head. The dog expressed his acquiescence by wagging his tail and trying to lick Bill's hand.

Thereafter wherever Bill went the dog went with him. It was against all precedent in the offices of the Ricks corporation for its salesmen to go out soliciting orders attended by a mongrel canine. Mr. Skinner called Cappy's attention to it.

Cappy laughed. "Bill Peck's not like the other salesmen, Skinner; wait and see."

The young man had appeared at the office the next morning and assured Mr. Skinner that he was ready to tackle the skunk spruce. Skinner gave him a curt nod, and even that was toward the door. Bill did not linger; he was not slow to take the cue. It was up to him to sell or cry baby, and he had no idea of crying baby.

From his prevous experience he knew that skunk spruce was not greatly in demand. There was no howling cry for it now that the war was over and normalcy was trying to re-establish itself in spite of the politicians. Bill went down to see Jack at the aviation field to talk matters over with him, but what Jack did not know about lumber almost equalled what he himself did not know about flying machines.

"If I can ever help you with my bus, put me wise," said the affable aviator. "I'm glad you've got a job, and if you ever want a rush delivery, I'm your man."

The idea of using an airplane to deliver a consignment of lumber was something new to Bill. He laughed as he thought of it; it might be done at that, stranger things had happened; he wondered how much lumber one could load on a bus and get away with it.

His peregrinations among those who used lumber did not bring very encouraging results. He discovered that skunk spruce was as much of a drug on an overcrowded market as the skunk without the spruce would be in an overcrowded ballroom.

Racking His Brain

But he said he would sell that stuff, and he had meant it; so he began to rack his brains about uses for skunk spruce not down in everyday catalog, and then he remembered that he'd once attended a lecture on China and half recollected hearing the speaker declare that the Chinese not only liked skunk spruce, but couldn't get enough of it.

That seemed encouraging until Bill also remembered that the Ricks Corporation was in the China trade, and if they couldn't sell the spruce to the Chinese how could he, Bill Peck, sell it to them?

And yet, it was possible that they didn't realize the Chinese predilection, and he could hardly tell them. No, the thing to do was to find some other firm in the China trade and sell them the spruce.

It was in following out this line of endevor that Mr. Peck some ten days later met Hugh McNair, who had acquired a line of boats running to the Orient and had nothing to put in them.

When Bill Peck sent in his card Mr. McNair stared at it, then chuckled; he had a date within a half-hour with Cappy to play golf; in fact, he had brought to the office a new mashie which he hoped would excite the envy of his opponent and at the same time throw him off his game.

Naturally he had no inkling as to the nature of Bill's errand; he saw a well-dressed, affable young man who shook hands with him as though he were a good friend. "I hope you won't mind my dog," said Bill. "I'll leave him in the corner."

McNair grinned; here was something new, a salesman with a dog. Bill drew up a chair and from the depths of a brief case drew out a map.

"Now, Mr. McNair," he said, "you see what this is; it is a map of China and that big line running across it you know as well as I do is the Great Wall"——

McNair nodded: "Are you trying to sell me the Great Wall of China?" he asked, smiling.

"No, sir, I'm trying to tell you that the Chinese are anxious to keep that wall intact—it's falling to pieces and it needs repairing, and the stuff to repair it with is skunk spruce. They're crazy for skunk spruce over there—you've got the ships—the Ricks Corporation has the spruce—and the Chinese want it—what's the answer? It seems to me it's plain enough—you're the logical man to buy this stuff and make a clean profit on it."

Now, let us not say that Fate was not kind to Bill. He couldn't know that McNair was dying to fill his ships with material for the Orient. He couldn't know that he'd have paid a premium to fill those ships with stuff bought from the Ricks Corporation just to get even with Cappy.

And McNair, being a shrewd business man, did not take him into his confidence on either of these points.

"The Ways of a Husband"

A TREAT in store for the friends of Jim and Anne!

The greatest of married life serials, "When a Girl Marries," is nearing its end, after more than six years of unprecedented popularity, as attested by the many letters against its discontinuance received in a vote taken recently by the Boston American. But those who have followed the thrilling fortunes of Anne, Jim, Phoebe, Betty, Carlotta and the other lovable and not so lovable characters are not to lose sight of them.

Ann Lisle.

Ann Lisle has written a sequel, every whit as interesting, and it will begin Monday. It is called "The Ways of a Husband," and has all the intimate and gripping features of the first story—and more.

It is also a complete story in itself and is bound to interest new readers.

Do not fail to start reading it next Monday!

Get health---Keep health---Feel fine by eating Kellogg's Bran regularly

Constipation and the toxic poisonings that come from it not only take the enthusiasm out of life, making you depressed and physically and mentally dull—but they head you into diseases such as Bright's, diabetes, rheumatism, etc. You can actually rid yourself of these dangers if you will EAT KELLOGG'S BRAN REGULARLY!—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases with every meal!

Kellogg's Bran, is nature's most wonderful food. It is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation and it will do that as no other food can! Don't take a chance of "getting away" with constipation—IT WILL GET YOU! Don't ruin your health with pills and cathartics—they are as dangerous as constipation itself and give but temporary relief at the very best!

What you should do for your family and for yourself is to serve Kellogg's Bran every day, in any one of several attractive ways, and fight constipation as you have never fought it before! AND YOU WILL WIN.

In the first place, Kellogg's Bran is delicious in its nut-like flavor, adding greatly to any cereal with which it is used. Eat bran as a cereal with hot milk, or mix it with hot cereal before serving. Another method is to cook Kellogg's Bran with cereal. In each case add two tablespoonfuls of bran for each person. A popular way is to sprinkle bran on hot or cold cereal. Bran makes wonderful bakery products. Recipes are printed on every package.

Kellogg's Bran is served in leading hotels, restaurants and clubs. It is sold by all grocers.

DAILY HOROSCOPE

Mary Blake Says:

THE sun enters Taurus today and between 4 and 6 o'clock is a fairly good period for ordinary matters. After that time there is an inclination for delays and disappointment, especially in affairs of affection or relating to amusement.

A child born on this day will be unsettled in disposition, and fortunate in employ. It will benefit through marriage or a legacy.

The general character of those whose birthday it is is independent and domineering. Since there is a tendency to dig deep into the mysterious things, or perhaps to use various means or uncommon channels to gain your ends, a proper appreciation may not be obtained from associates, and there is a danger of consequent neglect by them.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

HYGIENE OF THE NOSE

—By Brice Belden, M. D.—

THE nose ought to be cleaned at regular intervals, especially if any infectious process has taken place in it, leaving the mucous membrane in an irritated condition.

It is altogether probable that such a nasal toilette would go very far toward reducing the prevalence of respiratory infections, so many of which gain their first foothold in the nasal chambers.

No doubt many of the cases of catarrh, so called, would clear up if the nasal passages were properly and regularly cleansed. The more or less chronic catarrhs particularly, following upon colds in the head, would be more promptly cleared up if handled in this manner.

Merely snuffing up water in the morning, in the course of making one's toilette, leaves the mucous membrane irritated and unprotected. Plain water is very irritating in the lining membrane of the nose. Moreover, the removal of the protecting mucus, without its partial replacement by some bland oil, leaves the membrane more exposed than ever to irritation and infection. People who practice this kind of cleansing are usually the ones who constantly complain of having stuffy noses.

A good oily preparation to use, no matter what the method of cleansing, consists of a grain of camphor, a grain of menthol and an ounce of liquid albolene. An oil atomizer should be used to spray this preparation over the nasal mucous membrane.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

USE MULSIFIED

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any pharmacy. It is very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

DRAFT IN CHIMNEY

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

"Referring to your article, 'Why Smoke Rises,' you have accounted for the smoke, but how do you account for the draft, or suction, through a smokestack when there is no fire or heat? If the air pressure at the top of a smokestack is less than at the bottom, why doesn't it equalize itself, just as a tube immersed upright in water? An engineer once told me that smokestack drafts were still quite a mystery to the profession, so I am sure many of us would appreciate an article on smokestacks. C. D.

"South Bend, Ind."

I DON'T see why everybody should not be interested in smokestacks, for invariably whatever interested our cave-dwelling ancestors continues to interest their civilized descendants, and the cave-dwellers, even of many thousand years ago, have left plain indications that, though they, too, must have been mystified and greatly troubled by the natural depravity of chimneys, they managed somehow to tame them—at least partially.

In fact, the chimneys and smokestacks of our time, both tall and short, and the innumerable devices that have been applied to make them "draw," serve better than almost any other invention in ordinary use to reveal the strange caprices of the atmosphere.

The rule for the intensity, or force, of the draft of a chimney is that it equals the difference between the weight of the column of hot gases inside and the weight of a column of the external air of the same height.

Moderate Losses Extend Over a Broad List Before Selling Grows Quiet

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

Not so long ago Earl D. Babst, head of the largest sugar refining company in America, had his floor covered with charts to give me a vivid picture of the enormous over-supply of sugar and the unusually low price level. The whole sugar industry then was in the dumps.

But what happened?

The low prices revived the consumption after it had been greatly curtailed by the abnormally high prices. The increased consumption ate into the large supplies to such an extent that prices began to move up briskly.

Perhaps the recital of this development may hearten, at least a little, our millions of grain growers.

Without question the weakest feature of our present business prosperity is the restricted purchasing power of our thirty or more millions interested in agriculture.

Dissatisfaction, naturally, is rife throughout the grain growing States.

Just what is the outlook, as the brainiest and most experienced grain men see it?

I was fortunate in getting into touch the other day with a man recognized as one of the foremost authorities on the subject in America, and here are some of his statements, which he took pains to make carefully and deliberately:

"The agricultural outlook appears quite complicated. First, there is no doubt but what the price of agricultural commodities is too low based on other things; but it rather looks as if this situation cannot be helped unless there are crop failures, which, of course, is extremely undesirable.

"The great trouble seems to be more with the cost of everything the farmer buys. Lack of immigration has so curtailed labor that the cities have drawn from the farmer and caused the farmer to pay high wages. This labor scarcity causes an increase in the cost of producing all manufactured articles, the cost of operating the railroads and other utilities. All this means an increase in the cost of living in the cities, which must in turn, be met by increased wages.

"Result, the non-agricultural sections have to keep putting up the cost of everything.

"The farmer, on the other hand, is rather helpless to put up the price of any of his products if they are products which are going abroad, for the reason that he is competing with the whole world and the balance of the world is making the price.

"All conditions considered, the farmer has been lucky and rather wise. To begin with, early in the season when he started to move his large crop, the coal strike and the machinists' strike caused a scarcity of cars, and he could not get enough grain to the markets to take care of the demand. This caused a good, steady advance in prices. On this advance, the farmer has been very wise, he has sold large amounts of stuff—every time the market advanced, he has sold and he has been very fortunate in having the speculative public buy the futures.

"There are a large number of speculators who figured grain should advance; therefore, they have bought these futures at high prices—that is, high compared to last Summer's prices. So far the speculators who bought these futures, which represent hedges by cash grain handlers who have bought cash grain from the farmers and are holding it in warehouses having the futures sold, are hopeful they will get a profit. Whether they will or not is hard to say. There seems to be a surplus of grain in the country, and it will have to be carried over to the new crop by someone.

"If the speculator who is long of this surplus grain changes his mind and begins to sell out, there might be a bad decline. If this should come before the new crop is harvested, it would, no doubt, allow this surplus to be worked off, exported and used up, and then we would have a clean slate for the new crop; but if the speculator does not liquidate and waits until the new crop comes—with present conditions together with Europe and other countries having a surplus as well, it looks as if we might have rather low prices."

* * *

Yet remember what happened in sugar. It would be foolish, indeed, to look for similarly sensational advances in grain, but low prices do usually stimulate consumption, and increased consumption invariably helps prices. It will be a good thing for all of us if events bring the agricultural one-third of our population into line in our prosperity procession.

DIVIDEND INCREASE ON COLUMBIA GAS

Directors of the Columbia Gas & Electric Company have increased the regular quarterly dividend from $1.50 to $1.95 a share on the old stock of $100 a share par value.

The dividend rate was fixed to correspond to a quarterly dividend of 65 cents a share of no-par-value, when issued, in accordance with a recent decision of the company to change its capitalization from 500,000 shares of $100 par value to 1,500,000 shares without par value.

SUGAR GROUP IS SUBJECTED TO PRESSURE

Moderate losses extended over a broad list today before selling grew quiet on the New York Stock Exchange. Sugars were subjected to sharp pressure, Punta Alegre, Cuban-American, South Porto Rico, Manati and Cuba Cane preferred being run off from 1 to more than 2 points.

Du Pont yielded over 3 points. Most changes were fractional. Kresge moved against the market, up 10, at 245. There was a really around noon.

The opening was irregular, with the main price tendency downward. Most of the recent industrial favorites, such as Stewart Warner, California Petroleum, Corn Products and Bethlehem Steel, opened fractionally lower.

Baldwin, Central Leather, Colorado Fuel, Republic Steel, American Smelting and Transue Williams Steel were among the few stocks to move to higher ground. Kayser Silk preferred broke 4 points.

United Soda Fountain Company

7%

Cumulative Participating First Preferred Stock

First Preferred participates equally with Common Stock in all dividends (cash or stock) in excess of $7.00 a share.

"Select" because:

a. The Company's products are necessary in meeting the insistent demand made by the public in towns and cities for food and drink.

b. The businesses which grow most rapidly are those which are conducted to strive for the small purchases from the many rather than large purchases from the few.

c. The chain store systems are striking exponents of keen merchandising, and financial pages of daily newspapers show how successful they are.

d. An outstanding chain store system, (S. S. Kresge Co.), has installed the Company's product in its new Boston store; it is, we believe, the largest soda fountain and luncheonette in the world—815 feet of serving counter.

Boston Notes

EASTERN Massachusetts Street Railway, with gross income of $235,186 for March, as compared with $161,960 in 1922, shows reduction in income for year's first quarter in contrast with 1922. Net income for quarter, however, displays a gain.

BIGELOW-Hartford Carpet Company has declared regular quarterly dividends of $2 per share on common and $1.50 per share on preferred, both payable May 1 to stock of record April 18.

WHILE United Drug's gross sales for the first quarter were above $15,000,000, this figure is expected to be bettered in second quarter.

ISLAND Creek Coal's profits for year's first quarter are estimated at about $5 a share on common after preferred dividends.

AMERICAN Hide & Leather tanneries are running full with output near a record.

AMERICAN Smelting labor conditions are reported as especially good in Mexico.

VENTURA Oil's net profits in first quarter of 1923 will more than meet current dividend requirement of 75 cents a share.

PUNTA Alegre Sugar has 100,000 acres ready for planting and new planting has commenced. The crop will be finished about May 10.

ST. JOSEPH'S Lead is the largest independent lead producer in the United States and established a new record in 1922 with production of 210,000,000 pounds, increase of 68,000,000 pounds or 48 per cent over 1921.

UNITED Fruit sells its sugar as it is made and controlling its own raws naturally stands to benefit by a rising market.

ARIZONIA Commercial net profits are averaging between $55,000 and $60,000 minthly, or at the rate of between $2 and $3 per share annually.

IF NEW River Company is able to keep production at 170,000 tons a month, or 510,000 tons quarterly, it will be in fair way to begin again to whittle down accumulated dividends on its preferred.

MALDEN NOTES ARE BOUGHT IN BOSTON

Malden has sold a temporary revenue loan of $200,000, dated payable Oct. 22, 1923, to Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co., at 4.17 per cent, discount. Other bidders were: Old Colony Trust Co., 4.27 per cent., plus premium; Salomon Bros. & Hutzler, 4.28 per cent., plus $2, and First National Bank, Boston, at 4.37 per cent.

Crude Oil Cut

Standard Oil of Louisiana reduced Bellevue crude 20 cents barrel to $1.15. This is the first cut in Louisiana oil since February.

Doheny Buys Oil

President Shoup of Associated Oil has concluded negotiations for sale of 5,000,000 barrels crude oil to Pan-American Petroleum, according to Los Angeles report.

BOSTON AMERICAN

Largest Evening Circulation in New England—April 20, 1923

Receipts of flour in Boston in 1921 were 1,093,784 barrels, or 31,935 less than in 1921; 50,614 barrels were exported.

Who Is Responsible for the Loss of Life in Lynn Fire?

That somebody's negligence, or worse, is responsible for the terrible loss of life in the Lynn fire is perfectly clear. Whose negligence, has to be proved; and we hope that no stone will be left unturned to establish that proof, and that severest punishment will be given to the guilty party or parties.

What a pity it is that human life must always be sacrificed in order to wake up the community to the negligence of its agents in the matter of protecting its safety!

In the old days, human sacrifices were made on the pagan altars for human protection. We consider those barbarous and godless days. What is the difference between those days and the days which require Iriquois Theatre fires and Lynn tenement fires to obtain action which will give the community safety?

Burke, in his great speech on "Conciliation With America," declared that the chief virtue of American intelligence was the ability to anticipate danger by reasoning, rather than by feeling its hurt.

What has become of that kind of American intelligence?

Fighting One Woman

Small Business for the United States

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

Monsignor Butchkavitch, Roman Catholic Vicar-General in Russia, was executed by the Soviet government, and the civilized world outside of Russia denounces that execution as a disgraceful crime.

The United States, with the approval of its citizens, united in the general denunciation.

Now the United States, through Secretary of State Hughes, cancels the passport of Madam Kalinin, wife of the Russian President, who had planned to visit the United States, invited here by the American Committee for the Relief of Russian Children.

Could not some punishment MORE MANLY and effective have been devised for the Butchkavitch execution? Madam Kalinin, of course, had nothing to do with it. The children on whose behalf she came to the United States had nothing to do with it.

To shut out and insult a woman guilty of no crime seems rather a foolish and aimless reply to an act outraging international sentiment. The result, of course, will be retaliation as regards American travelers, perhaps war, when Russia gets more thoroughly on her feet and starts in, as she will do, barring accident, to straighten out her international account. If this country wants to fight Russia it ought to fight RUSSIA, not one Russian WOMAN.

Brigands Bred Wholesale

That's a Part of Bootlegging More Dangerous Than the Whiskey

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

A ship is found abandoned at sea, loaded with cartridges, everything riddled with bullet holes. Perhaps the crew rebelled, killed the officers and stole the whiskey. Perhaps pirates boarded the ship and shot and drowned the crew. Perhaps, the whiskey being sold, the boat was abandoned. Nobody knows yet. A few boys in an automobile hold up a big crowd of street railway workers, take a cash box of four thousand dollars and drive away.

On the highways of Long Island may be heard every night the roaring of automobiles carrying bootleg whiskey. These automobiles are provided with professional "gunmen" to protect them against liquor pirates along the road.

Our brand of bootleg prohibition is building up a professional class of criminals in this country that should interest those that care about law and order and safety of property.

Bootleg banditry already makes the poetic bandits of Spain, Italy and Greece that you see in comic opera look like a brigade of Red Cross nurses.

What will be the total bandit population of the United States, how many well-trained criminals will be ready to turn from bootleg banditry to bank vault banditry, if the bootleg school for bandits lasts a few years more?

England Has Worries

But She Also Has Statesmen. She'll Survive

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

The London Morning Post, as thoroughly Tory as Queen Victoria's coachman, John Brown, is horrified because Labor members in the House of Commons sang a revolutionary song called "The Red Flag!"

Sovietism is coming, and Communism and horrid revolution, if labor men have their way, says the Morning Post. There won't be any Sovietism or revolution, however, in England, and extreme Laborites may sing "The Red Flag" to their hearts' content. It is what the mass of people want that counts.

England is not Russia, the English people can read and write. And the land problem is being solved by land-owning nobles getting rid of their estates as rapidly as possible.

England is worrying also about the railroad strike that may come, and several strikes that have come already.

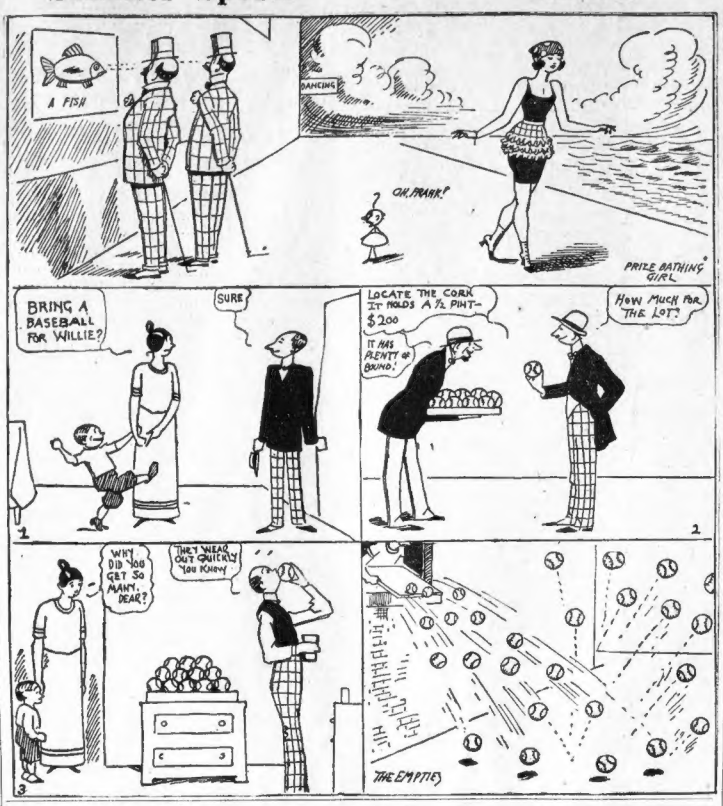

The English railroads made what the financial writers call "a tactical mistake," raising dividends for stockholders "at a time when wages were being reduced and freight rates were high."

The reserves of English railways are now five times what they were before the war. The workers don't think this is just the time to reduce wages. No wonder.

In the event of a bad labor condition, Lloyd George will be missed. It takes a man with power to deal with labor questions in England, for the Labor party includes some of the ablest Englishmen, real thinking men.

GOLD BAIT LURE TO DIVERS

LONDON, April 20.—The gold mines planted in the ocean's bed by the P. & O. liner Egypt, when she sank off Ushant last May with eighty-seven persons and more than $5,000,000 in bullion, has aroused the ambition of a Swedish engineering company, which has offered to bring it to the surface. The dazzling gold bait lies at a depth of sixty-five fathoms.

"I regard twenty fathoms as the maximum depth from which a vessel can be raised," said Sir Frederick Young soon after the Egypt went down.

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

Envies the Elephant

Editor Boston American:

A very interesting article on science attracted my attention: "Do Animals Reason?" I feel very wroth towards creation, to be an elephant would be far greater honor than being a wife to some man.

An elephant never indulges in alcoholic beverages.

He never takes the name of his God in vain.

He never comes home 4 a. m., standard time.

He never attacks the female of the species.

He never quarrels with his wife when informed that Mary or George need a new pair of shoes.

He considers the female his equal.

He never begrudges his neighbor his life, no matter what nationality.

He never manufactures toy guns for his offspring to thoroughly develop the instinct for murder.

Intelligent beast.

Editor Boston American:

With all New England working overtime at advanced wages, what's the story in Lynn.

Since I have been here eighteen shoe shops have moved away to other cities, and more are leaving.

LYNN SUBSCRIBER.

WORDS FROM THE LIPS OF WISE MEN

NATURE intended you to be the fountain-spring of cheerfulness and social life, and not the traveling monument of despair and melancholy.

* * *

Every difficulty slurred over will be a ghost to disturb your repose later on.

* * *

That charity is bad which takes from independence its proper price.

Thrift is a rich contribution to the building up of character.

THE HELPING HAND

Do Not Inclose Stamps. Letters Will Not Be Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls. No Names Are Published.

Will Send Shoes

Editor Helping Hand:

I will be glad to send the following shoes by parcel post to any addresses you can send. Please note that all the shoes are narrow widths. One pair mahogany boots, 5-B; one pair black calf strap oxfords, 5½-B; one pair satin pumps, 4-B. These are lady's shoes and very slightly worn. I think your column is doing splendid work and wish you all success. MRS. C. P. R.

ED. NOTE—I know these will be very useful. Thank you. They will be held for replies.

Hard to Meet Bills

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a widow with two daughters to support and a granddaughter sixteen years old. I lost my only support, a son, four years ago. Would some kind reader have some old sheets, pillow cases or old clothing of any kind for the sixteen-year-old girl? I am taking in washings and I can hardly make enough to buy food, never mind rent, medicine and doctor's bills. MRS. R. H.

Sends List of Offerings

Editor Helping Hand:

I am sending my best wishes for the success of the Helping Hand and also a list of a few things which I have to give to some needy family. They aren't new, but they will suit some poor family perfectly. G. C. C.

ED. NOTE—A fine list! You will be put in touch with I. M., a twelve-year-old girl, who wears size 15, and who will certainly appreciate what you offer.

Wants Books

Editor Helping Hand:

I saw an offer of books for a boy between ten and fifteen. I have been in bed for six weeks with heart trouble, and the days seem very long. I wish I had something to read, as I have read all the books of the children in the neighborhood, but no one seems to have any more.

T. O'B.

ED. NOTE—We are very sorry, but those books were promised to another lad. There may be other offers, however, for such a lover of books as you.

For New Baby

Editor Helping Hand:

I have on hand the following articles suitable for a newsborn baby. Please send me A. H.'s address or any other if she has been supplied, and I will be glad to mail them. HELEN.

ED. NOTE—A. H. has been supplied. You will be sent the address of Mrs. E. F. McC., who is expecting a baby and cannot buy clothes for it. Thank you.

Needs a Stroller

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a little girl, the oldest in my family, nine years old. I have two brothers and two sisters. My mother had a big carriage, and she gave it to a poor lady with ten children, so my little brother has to stay in now, as he has no carriage. I love to take him out, but mother can't get money enough to buy us all shoes, so she can't get a stroller. Will you help us find some kind person that doesn't want a stroller? I am in the sixth grade. The doctor says the baby should be out every day. ELLA.

Offers Overcoat

Editor Helping Hand:

I have twenty-four men's starched collars, sizes 14 and 14½. Maybe someone can use them. Also a light-colored overcoat, without lining, for a young man. C. A. K.

ED. NOTE—Thank you. Your offer will be held.

Father Out of Work

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a boy ten years old. I sell the Boston American every evening after school, and my father is out of work, and my clothes are very bad. He did not work since the snow went away. I wrote before, but I am going to try again. If any kind reader has a suit of clothes that they don't need, no matter how bad it is, I can wear a size 12 or 13. I also have a brother aged eight years old that's badly in need of clothes. He could wear size six or eleven, and also a sister six and another four and a brother two. My mother makes things over. JOHN.

LENINE'S TREMBLING HAND SETS BACK THE CLOCK

By Herbert Kaufman

LENINE is better, but still a very sick man. Continued persecution of prelates is one indication of infirmity. Protest against the private management of enterprises, another.

Advices from Moscow assert that the Premier's trembling hand has reached out to thrust experts from the management of industry.

Canute as effectually gestured the seas back from the shores.

Administration is not one of the five senses. Efficiency is a product of experience. Theory conceives, but can't run factories, nor operate railroads, nor engineer production.

The output of deft hands and trained arms may not be profitably disposed of without the guidance of practical intelligence.

The Soviets have no recourse but to adopt the industrial and commercial systems which rule world markets.

Until then they bar themselves from international trade.

Communism destroyed a crude and rambling economic structure—but a far more competent one than its successor.

Lenine's group, for more than six years in control of the richest acres of Europe, can't even feed their masses.

Relief workers estimate that five million persons must still be succored by foreign charity or perish. That's Bolshevism's score.

Diplomacy Loses and Invention Makes Time

Franco-German poker is still full of bluff hands. No showdown in sight. Poincare fixes the ransom of the Ruhr at fifty billion gold marks.

Foreign Minister von Rosenberg counters with a 40 per cent. discount ultimatum.

Figure for yourself how the negotiations will drag along when Elliott Wadsworth hasn't yet pinned the allies down on the repayment of America's snitched share of Rhineland occupation expenses.

Diplomacy is bankrupt, the continent isn't much better off.

Some Frenchmen, however, still have a sense of time values.

Berlin's new telegraph system is in process of launching. Messages will be sent as written—drawings, pictures and blueprints automatically transferred from point to point.

No need to verify communications; notes arrive in the handwriting of the sender. Wills, contracts, love letters instantly delivered at any distance and in original form.

Foreign languages, even ideographs, dispense with translation. Stenographers have a new notebook for their shorthand, and its pages are miles.

Evidently a cheaper method than the Morse code. Charges are based upon the page, not the word. One trick that local wizards overlooked.

The Passkey on Franklin's Kite

Ten years from now you'll lift a telephone receiver and watch your wife's smiling face in a disk above mouthpiece as she describes her week-end aeroplane trip to Pekin.

Meanwhile, salesmen arriving at Timbuctoo in their own skyduggies, will be recording on desk instruments specifications, sketches and terms for special equipment they've just sold there, and M. Belin's air brush will fill a screen on the opposite wall with snapshots of news events, and perhaps the events themselves, in full color and motion.

Franklin never dreamed what a passkey rode on that kite of his.

Kangaroo Words Jumping Through the Land

All aerial roads lead the mind back to Mr. Bell's little contrivance, at which visitors to the Philadelphia Centennial in 1876 wisely winked, clutched their pockets and passed on. They took no stock in such a crazy notion—to the lasting regret of their descents.

You couldn't tell them that folk twenty miles away would ever hear each other.

Conceive their feelings if they could know that the Bell system today hurls speech from coast to coast on phantom circuits with two hundred and fifty-mile spaces between wire terminals.

Long distance calls now travel alternately through copper and air.

Kangaroo words take State-wide leaps, draw breath at successive generators and with renewed strength jump over mountains and land on Pacific islands.

Considering the conveniences of the period and the incalculable savings which progress has made in time and energy, don't you think that your own record is a pretty sorry exhibition?

A man who can't make more than a living while fellows with an identical outfit of senses are making intercocean stilts, building star railways and resurrecting the dead, is a voluntary failure.

$10,000 Worth of Indecision

Weaver Hawkins went shy both arms in the World War. But that didn't collect his ticket to success. Hawkins sank his teeth into a paint brush and began to turn out water colors and etchings of such distinction that one of his works is now hanging in a London academy.

Man can get along without all sorts of parts if he but hangs onto his will. The worst cripple on earth is a quitter. Anybody without determination to win wouldn't be benefited by a hundred senses and a dozen limbs.

Edwin Thomas, tombstone dealer, started to woo Mrs. Lizzie June, an Elmira widow, in 1918, and has just concluded that he isn't a marrying man.

The lady, looking at the calendar, estimates that his indecision has depreciated her matrimonial attractions $10,000 worth, writes them off at $2,000 per year and asks the court to award corresponding damages.

Physicians, authors and other professionals also find their capital diminishing with age. But governments are not yet sufficiently enlightened to allow for the depreciation of human plants.

The gentlemen who designed income taxes permitted liberal allowances for deteriorated machinery, but did not recognize the wear and tear on brains.
